Congress Kept Its Promises, M'Gregor Says

Cites Income Tax Reduction

SHELBY—Congressman J. Harry McGregor told a Republican rally here last night that he is proud to have been a member of the 80th Congress because it "kept its promises."

McGregor addressed some 175 persons at the Shelby high school. Other speakers included State Senator Ralph A. Winter, of Lodi, Attorney Huntington Carlile, of Columbus, who spoke for the state ticket, and Republican candidates for county offices.

McGregor, pointing out that this nation recognizes freedom of opportunity, said the Eighteenth congress "recognized that freedom by keeping its pledges to the American people."

McGregor asserted "Congress gave the American people a tax cut, and it was not a rich man's tax cut."

The income tax bill passed by the last congress took 7,400,000 persons completely off the tax rolls, adding that 6,900,000 of those persons had yearly salaries under $3,000.

"I'm proud to have been a member of the congress which gave the working man a 'magna charta,' of labor," McGregor asserted.

He said he referred to the Taft-Hartley law, and added that that law gives a man the privilege of working, forces labor leaders to tell the membership what becomes of their dues, and gives a laborer the right to get up and have his say at union meetings. The Taft-Hartley law also gives the membership the right to determine if there will be a strike, he said.

Congress appropriated 400 million dollars for rural electrification which was 264 millions more than any other congress appropriated, the congressman said.

"I'm glad to have been a member of a congress that opposed regimentation and control. Does 16 years of New Dealism justify another four years in office for the Democrats?" he asked. "Examine the New Deal record, it is a record of tax and tax, and spend and spend."

SEES HUGE BUDGET

He said he learned the President would ask a 46-billion-dollar budget in January, if he is re-elected, and charged that he wouldn't ask for one cent to fight communism.

McGregor said his opponent, Attorney Robert W. Levering of Mt. Vernon, is "associating with the wrong kind of people." He said literature opposing his re-election was printed on the back of letterheads of a Mansfield local of the United Electrical Workers union.

The United Electrical Workers is one of three unions in the country in which the international officers have refused to sign non-communist affidavits, the congressman said.

He said that if Truman is re-elected, "you can expect a repeal of the Taft-Hartley law." He said the President has used the Taft-Hartley law in seven instances, "yet Mr. Truman wants to repeal that law."

He said a Republican senate also must be elected, as well as President and Vice-President, to promote unity.

McGregor was introduced by Henry Sheets of Shelby.

State Senator Ralph Winter of Lodi said that because of the critical world situation efficiency is needed in Washington and effici-

Republicans Angered By Truman's 'Mud-Slinging'

(By United Press)

President Truman's charge that the Republican party is a front for dictator-minded reactionary forces brought cries of "mud-slinging" and "inexcusable falsehoods" today from GOP campaign headquarters.

Herbert Brownell jr., manager of the Dewey-Warren ticket, ridiculed the President's acrimonious speech in Chicago last night as "a transparent attempt to drag the campaign down to his own level."

The Republican campaign manager made his statement as Gov. Thomas E. Dewey himself headed for Chicago where he will speak tonight from the same platform occupied by Mr. Truman last night. Dewey was expected to ignore the President's remarks in adherence to his policy of refraining from "vituperation and abuse" in the closing week of the campaign.

Meanwhile, Mr. Truman campaigned through Illinois, Indiana and Ohio on his way to Cleveland where he speaks tonight.

In his Chicago address, the Chief Executive said "Powerful reactionary forces" are working through the Republican party in an effort to set up a Fascist dictatorship in this country. They are the same type of forces, he said, that backed the rise of Hitler in Germany, Mussolini in Italy and Tojo in Japan.

The President's speech climaxed the most spectacular political demonstration in the Windy City's history. Some 750,000 Chicagoans turned out to cheer the Democratic candidate during a three-mile parade that rolled along under an umbrella of fireworks.

Republican bigwigs are planning a similarly boisterous reception for Dewey tonight.

A spokesman said the Governor will emphasize in his speech the important interdependence of business, labor and agriculture. He will endeavor to show "how government policies friendly to each will help build a healthy, vigorous America," the spokesman said.

Both Dewey and Mr. Truman came in for criticism from Progressive party candidate Henry A. Wallace. Speaking in Jersey City, N. J., Wallace said the President "turned over to bankers and generals his power to act on behalf of the people." And he described Dewey as "a pathetic figure" who, if elected, will "go down in history as a worse president than either Herbert Hoover or Harry Truman."

Herbert Raps Gambling, Lausche Attacks Roads

(By Associated Press)

The governor talked about gambling and the ex-governor talked about roads in Ohio last night to start off the last full week before election.

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert, Republican seeking reelection, said the ex-governor, Democrat Frank J. Lausche, who is trying to win back the job, was "publicly condemning and privately wooing the gambling interests of this state."

Lausche told a series of Cleveland ward rallies that Herbert's administration had prevented nearly $40,000,000 in federal highway money from coming into Ohio by letting the "preparation of plans break down."

At a Dayton rally, Governor Herbert declared that Lausche claimed credit publicly for driving "the lawless out of local communities."

"He was, or should have been, aware that at least a dozen gambling places were operating full blast in Franklin county (Columbus) some almost as near as the State House as is the executive mansion.

In his Cleveland talks, Lausche asserted that money was "being poured down the drain on ineffectual maintenance of crumbling roads."

"The condition of Ohio highways," he said, "is the result of the substantial ending of maintenance and new construction during the war years. The state has unsuccessfully attempted to catch up since that time and will not catch up to the degree that the future requires because it requires facts, as well as men and materials. The state government does not have the facts. It is in fact resisting the process of acquiring facts because it fears the political effect of an inquiry.

Demands Jews Give Up Gains

U. N. Mediator Raps Violation

PARIS —(UP)— The United Nations demanded today that Israel give up the Negev towns and territory won from the Egyptians in the short-lived campaign which began in south Palestine on Oct. 14.

Dr. Relph Bunche, acting UN mediator for Palestine, announced his demand that the Israeli forces withdraw from their newly won positions at an emergency meeting of the security council, called to hear Egyptians charges of Israeli truce violations.

The request for the realignment of armed forces in south Palestine as they were Oct. 14 was addressed in Bunche's name to both the Jews and the Arabs yesterday. But the Jews had scored the only appreciable gains and it was to them that the UN move applied

Bunche's action, which he said had not been answered by either Arabs or Jews, confronted the Tel Aviv government with a choice of defying the mediator or giving up the gains which undermined the Egyptian position in south Palestine.

The Jews captured Beersheba, ancient town known as the capital of the Negev, opened a corridor to isolated Jewish settlements deeper in the Negev, and damaged Egyptian communications so badly that the forward positions of the Egyptians were threatened.

Western Powers Meet on Berlin

PARIS — (AP) — The western powers planned to meet today to map their next move in the United Nations security council on the Berlin crisis.

The deadlock on the Berlin case became more pronounced last night when Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky vetoed a plan for settling the dispute submitted by the six "neutral" members of the council

Despite the veto, well informed quarters predicted negotiations to settle the dispute with the council would continue among the United States, Britain, France, Russia and the neutral members.

Sources close to Juan A. Bramagulia, acting president of the council, said the Argentine felt the western and Soviet viewpoints on Berlin still might be reconciled after further conversations.

Bramuglia was pictured as basing his belief upon the fact that Vishinsky said last night the Russians were willing to raise the Berlin blockade if adequate control of Berlin's currency were established at the same time.

10 Jailed In Probe

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—Ten witnesses who refused to testify before a federal grand jury investigating communist leanings among government workers in southern California, were ordered to jail early today by Federal Judge Pierson M. Hall.

Eight of them were sent to cells immediately while two women were given until tomorrow to make arrangements for the care of their children.

Judge Hall ordered them locked up "until they see fit to answer the grand jury questions."

The eight ordered to jail immediately are Mrs. Margaret Charles Noble, Mrs. Delphine M. Smith, Henry Steinberg, Samuel H. Kasinowitz, Philip Bock, Ben Dobbs, Wesley Bissey and Frank W. Alexander.

None of the ten was a government employe.

The sudden action of the government attorneys was so secret that several of Carter's assistants joined with deputy marshals in serving the early morning subpoenas.

TAKES OFFICE

ADA—(AP)—Dr. Luis E. Otte, former dean of men at Kansas Wesleyan college, will assume his duties as executive head of Ohio Northern university Nov. 1, it was announced today.

Mansfield Escapes Major Mishaps

Dense Fog Shrouds City Area, State

A harassing fog that blanketed Mansfield and the middle west today slowed traffic to a crawl. The Mansfield area, however, escaped major traffic mishaps.

Elsewhere in Ohio the dense fog contributed to a number of traffic accidents.

Twelve persons were injured five seriously enough to warrant hospitalization, when an American Bus lines vehicle left the road to avoid an oncoming truck near Zanesville on U. S. Route 40.

Near Columbus a gasoline tandem trailer swerved in the heavy fog, struck a parked car and hurled it into a drive-in restaurant. Nine persons in the building escaped injury.

The heavy fog was blamed for the crash of a Greyhound bus and two trucks near Upper Sandusky, resulting in injuries to four members of a North Dakota family.

The fog blanket, heaviest of the season, extended as far west as Illinois and from below the Ohio river into Canada. Weathermen said it formed when cool air suddenly swept into an area where it was comparatively warm yesterday. The air was moist and there was little wind to carry away the fog.

DIPS TO 34 DEGREES

Mansfield enjoyed a comforable 55 degrees yesterday at 2:30 p. m. With the first mists of fog, the mercury dropped to a frigid 34 early this morning.

The weatherman, however, optimistically predicted that Mansfield would bask in the sun today and would warm up somewhat.

"Temperatures will average two to four degrees above normal. Mild the first part, becoming cooler about Saturday. Rain about Friday night or Saturday with amount less than 1/4 inch.

$69,959 Pledged

With almost half the quota of $122,635 still to raise in only two more days of campaign work, Mansfield's Community Chest workers were urged today to turn in their reports to headquarters, whether or not they had completed their districts.

Willis Carto, campaign chairman, said today that campaign funds pledges total $69,959, leaving a balance of $52,676 which must be raised by Thursday night if Mansfield can be assured of assuming full responsibility toward its underprivileged, and its character building agencies for the coming year.

The Stars had reported contributions totaling $29,558 toward a goal of $61,555. Feathers, with a reported $38,401, have a goal of $58,080

Several more small industrial firms have reached their quotas. They included: Richland Auto Parts company, Mansfield Paint company, Mansfield Iron and Steel company, and the J M Cousins firm.

Sounds Fire Warning

Merrymakers Told To Be Careful

Fire Chief L. J. Steele today warned parents that Halloween candles, costumes, and bonfires can cause serious fire tragedies and asked them to safeguard children against burns while celebrating the holiday.

Concurring with the engineers of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, Chief Steele suggested that children should use flashlights instead of candles in their Jack-o-Lanterns.

Pointing out that many children have been burned by trying to light candles or in upsetting pumpkins containing lighted candles, the fire chief suggested the use of flashlights with the reflector head removed.

Other safety suggestions included.

Don't dress children in flimsy cotton or paper costumes.

Don't use imflammable decorations for parties or place lighted candles in windows

12 Injured In Bus Accident

ZANESVILLE—(INS)—Twelve persons were injured today when a New York-to-St. Louis bus careened off Route 40, the National highway, in a heavy fog two miles east of Zanesville

Five of the injured were held at Bethesda hospital, Zanesville, for further treatment, but were said to be out of danger.

The other seven, including driver C. E. Bailey, 39, of Columbus, were released after treatment.

A Dollar Isn't Enough! —An Editorial

Campaign workers are finding the going tough in the current Community Chest drive. With only two full days to go, reports indicate that only slightly more than half of the needed cash has been pledged or paid.

Facing the problem frankly, workers say the whole trouble is "dollar subscriptions." Too many people are brushing off solicitors with the words, "Here, I'll give you a buck."

There are approximately 19,000 wage earners in Mansfield. If each gave only "a buck" there just would not be a Community Chest. Either the splendid work of the 12 red feather agencies would come to an end or the city would again be saddled with 12 annual drives for funds instead of one. Certainly nobody wants either of those things to occur.

Some contributors have sought to explain their small gifts on the basis of a complaint against one particular agency. But, think! Even if you had a complaint against half the agencies and separate drives were being conducted for all 12, what would your total contribution be? You would probably gladly give a dollar to EACH of the agencies you favor.

Look at it another way: a contribution of one dollar means less than 10 cents per agency for a full year's operation. Surely the work of ANY of the agencies means more to you than the cost of ten cigarets a year.

Think it over. If you are a "dollar contributor" and want to boost your gift, remember every increase will be gratefully received. If you have not yet made your pledge, make it a liberal one. The Community Chest reaches into every phase of the city's life. It deals not only with the unfortunates of today but with the youth who will be running the community a few years hence. The Chest benefits everyone, but it can do so only if everyone gives—and gives generously.

Grocer Rues Kindness To Hitchhiker

AKRON —(INS)— The next time Charles A. Himebaugh of Akron befriends a hitchhiker may be slow in coming.

Himebaugh told police he was closing his grocery store last night when the last customer in the store asked for a lift.

When the two got in the store's delivery truck, Himebaugh said, the customer pulled a gun, took command of the vehicle, and pulled away with $200.

City to Get Analysis of Traffic Plan

Officials Asked To Attend Session

An analysis of the traffic program that won for Mansfield first place in the Ohio traffic safety contest in 1947 will be presented to city officials at an open meeting Nov. 16, Mayor Roy W. Vaughn announced today.

Harry Neal, chief engineer of the division of traffic and safety of the state highway department, wrote Mayor Vaughn that the analysis was made by the state in cooperation with the National Safety council as requested by the city.

"The inventory is accomplished," the letter stated, "by comparing your program with accomplishments of leading cities in your population group and the President's highway safety conference.

"The inventory is not intended to approve or disapprove the procedures and techniques now employed in your city.

"Rather, it brings to attention proven methods based in factual data gleaned from reports of hundreds of cities and deals primarily with personnel, organization and activities of proven effectiveness in programs of traffic control and accident prevention."

Neal suggested that members of city council, the police chief, traffic commissioner, city engineer, administration of the city schools, chairmen of the safety committees of local civic organizations and the general public be invited.

Mayor Vaughn said the meeting would be held in the evening in the municipal courtroom on the third floor of the city building.

Doctors Get $400 Each For Daniels' Exam

Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch today ordered that Drs. R. E Bushong and J. F. Bateman be paid $400 each for their services in the psychiatric examination of Robert Murl Daniels.

Dr. Bushong, superintendent of the Lima State hospital, and Dr. Bateman, superintendent of the Columbus State hospital, were appointed by the court to examine Daniels. Each had presented a bill of $500 for his services.

Judge Kalbfleisch also authorized payment of $125 to Dr. Joseph L Fetterman, of Cleveland, who gave Daniels an encephalogram, or "brain wave" test, and $19 to the University hospital in Cleveland for examinations given Daniels.

1 Killed In Fight For Mine

More Violence Anticipated

PARIS — (UP) — Striking French coal miners fired on government troops and blasted them with mines and hand grenades today when the soldiers attempted to seize two occupied pits near Ales in central France, the interior ministry announced

One army second lieutenant was wounded by a bullet, one miner was killed, and several miners also were injured, the announcement said. It added that 100 strikers were arrested, most of them carrying firearms. One miner was reported injured seriously, and was taken to a hospital.

Despite the fighting, the government seized four pits occupied by strikers before noon at Rochelle, in the mountain valley north of Ales, 90 miles northwest of Marseille.

Other troops, striking with overpowering force for the second day in the northern coal fields, seized three more pits without resistance in addition to the 12 seized when the campaign opened yesterday.

The government attack on the Ales pits, 90 miles south of St. Etienne, was ordered after a sharp fight Saturday at the Grand Combe mine in which 60 out of 75 Republican security guards were injured. Heavily outnumbered, the guards withdrew from the entire Alea area.

During last night powerful columns of colonial troops and police moved quietly through mountain valleys around Ales and sealed off all roads leading to the four Rochebelle pits.

MAN ROAD BLOCKS

Strikers received reports of their movements and sounded sirens at 2 a. m. and again at 4 a. m. By that time the troops were in command of the roads, with colonial infantry in full battle kit manning road blocks.

Reinforcements for the strikers were turned back in a pouring rain while other forces cleared away barricades of tree trunks and carts along roads leading to the pits.

Guards and gendarmes seized all hilltops overlooking the strike-bound pits. One of the pits capitulated without fighting and the troops marched in. Strikers in two other pits defied orders to come out.

Eyewitness reports of the fighting were lacking, as newsmen were not permitted to pass the roadblocks around the mines. Officials asserted, however, that troops were met with gunfire, hand grenades and small mines when they attacked the pitheads.

It was not clear whether two or three mines were involved in the fighting. The ministry of the interior said all four pits in the Rochebelle group were occupied shortly before noon.

During the battle at the mines, strikers in Ales attempted to attack the sub-prefecture, gendarmerie headquarters and police headquarters. They were driven off by security guard reserves who remained in town.

Railroad and postal workers in Ales immediately called a protest walkout.

In the Bethune sector, where government forces had not yet reached, the strikers reinforced their pithead pickets as if they intended to resist the troops.

Army Sets Draft Quota

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The Army will draw its first three-months quota of 45,000 draftees from the ranks of 25 and 24-year-old selective service registrants who are single and without war service, it was indicated today.

Because the Army is prepared to handle only 10,000 men in November, 15,000 in December, and 20,000 in January, its first quarter call is not expected to tap those registrants under 24 years of age. In the 25 and 24-year age groups are 144,175 men who appear available for immediate military training.

Cuff Stuff

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

THE FOOTBALL fan is a funny article. . . . We're thinking now, mainly, when he takes pen in hand to write a letter to the sports editor. . . . If the fan in question has nice or constructive things to say he signs his name . . . But if the letter writer wants to take verbal shots at the sports writer, team, coaches, etc., usually he is too ashamed to sign his name . . . The person he is writing about or to are usually well in the public eye . . . When these anonymous letters reach us, they usually wind up in the waste basket with no more than a cursory glance. (We never print letters when the writer requests us not to.) . . . So any unsigned messages are construed as coming from cranks . . . One sentence in a letter we received yesterday did stick a bit . . . It said, "Don't alibi for the loss (to Massillon) because you as one man thinks more noise should have been made to scare the opponents." . . . The crank, or whoever wrote the letter in question, was talking about a column which appeared under our name in Sunday's News-Journal . . . We sincerely do not try to alibi defeats of sport teams . . . As for losing to Massillon, the coaches, players and writers, as well as the fans, realize that Friday night Washington high was the better team.

★

TO SUBSTANTIATE our theory that more spirit from the fans would help produce a great team, we offer an example . . . Washington high lost to Alliance two weeks ago . . . But the fans did not get "down" on the team . . . As the Massillon squad left their Arlin field dressing room for their date with the Tygers, they found more than two score staunch supporters waiting in a line extending to the playing field outside the door . . . These supporters, all Massillon business men, gave the lads a pat on the back and wished them luck . . . Sure things like that help; ask any coach.

★

AS FOR NOISE scaring an opponent, heaven forbid . . . It takes solid blocking and tackling to do that . . . But knowing that the school "kids" and adults are squarely behind them some times makes players give out with some hidden reserve of power which enables them to overcome a sturdy foe . . . We have often subscribed to the theory that the student section at football games should, at least, touch the fifty-yard line if not encompass the mid-field stripe . . . At last reports, the game was still for the kids.

State Governors Present Book To A's Connie Mack

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—A book containing letters of congratulation from the governors of all 48 states was presented today to Connie Mack on the completion of 48 years as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics.

The book was presented by Mayor Bernard Samuel, who told the 85-year-old baseball veteran:

"You have been a leading exponent of clean sports, and clean living, and the example you have set during your long and eventful career has been and ever will be an inspiration to the youth of America."

Here is what some of the governors had to say:

Thomas E. Dewey, New York—"The name of Connie Mack stands for what is best in our national game. It stands not merely for winning teams, but for fine sportsmanship."

Earl Warren, California — "I know that it must give you great satisfaction to review the progress of baseball during the long period in which you have given this sport the benefit of your leadership and counsel."

Dwight H. Green, Illinois—"Your distinguished career, your notable achievements, and your leadership in a highly competitive field of sports have become one of our fine American traditions."

Thomas J. Herbert, Ohio—"You have provided us with an unexcelled example of sportsmanship and clean living."

Wisconsin 11 Works On Its Pass Defense

MADISON, Wis.—(UP)—Pass defense will be emphasized during Wisconsin gridiron workouts this week.

The Badgers suffered a narrow defeat at the hands of Ohio State last weekend because of failure to check the Buckeyes' aerial attack. Saturday Wisconsin tangles with Iowa whose Al Di Marco is a leading Big Nine passer.

Alliance 11 And Canton Play Friday

Canton McKinley's ferocious Bulldogs held a shaky lead today in the Ohio high school football race.

Coach Bup Rearick's aggregation has a slim margin over the Alliance Aviators in the polls released today by the International News Service and the Associated Press. Both teams have won six straight games.

The sports writers thereby set the stage for the most important game of the 1948 schedule. For the two powerhouses battle Friday night in Canton's Fawsett stadium with the crowd expected to hit the 25,000 mark.

SHARE THE LEAD

Last week Hamilton, Canton McKinley and Alliance had shared the lead in the two selections. McKinley came from behind to knock off Steubenville, 32 to 7. Alliance and Hamilton triumphed over weak opposition to lose a little prestige.

INS Poll	AP Poll
1. Canton McKin.	1. Canton McKin.
2. Alliance	2 Alliance
3. Middletown	3 Hamilton
4 Hamilton	4 Middletown
5. Toledo Waite	5. Massillon
6. Newark	6. Toledo Waite
7. Martins Ferry	7. Newark
8 Massillon	8. Martins Ferry
9. Gallipolis	9. Canton South
10. New Phila.	10. Akron St. Vin.

The Aviators zoomed to a 20 to 7 win over Akron Central while Hamilton's Big Blue smeared Springfield, 61 to 12. The Blue scored 10 of the 12 times they got the ball. A fumble halted one long drive and a clipping penalty nullified a touchdown on the other.

Hamilton leads the major teams in scoring with 268 points in its six victories.

Middletown completed the first four. The Middies romped over once-beaten Lima Central, 40 to 0.

Massillon's mighty Tigers could do no better than eighth in the INS rankings and fifth in the AP list. The Tigers knocked Mansfield Senior high out of the first ten, 33 to 7.

OTHER RESULTS

Here's how the other leading teams made out last week: Martins Ferry 33, Bellaire 0; Toledo Waite 25, Toledo Woodward 6; Newark 17, Lancaster 0; Gallipolis 47, Pomeroy 6; New Philadelphia 31, Columbus West 7; Canton South 48, Newcomerstown 6; Akron St. Vincent 13, Cuyahoga Falls 2.

Massillon and New Philadelphia are the only teams with one beating to win places on the honor roll. Newark, Middletown and Martins Ferry each have a tie marring their record.

Other teams getting backing in the two polls include: Bucyrus, Fremont Ross, Kenton, Barberton, Mansfield, Akron South, Toledo Scott, Cleveland Cathedral Latin and Orrville.

John Takos Hits Big 637 In Commercial Pin Loop

Only two men crossed the hallowed 600 line on Mansfield bowling lanes last night but one of these—John Takos—did it with one of the better scores of the season.

Takos fired games of 222, 214, and 201 in the Commercial "C" league at Colony for a 637 series. He was rolling with the Local No. 17 quintet.

Bill Black jr. was runner-up in the league with a 579 series on games of 185, 189 and 205. Not far behind was Joe Scott, 192-181-205—578; Joe Frisch, 171-204-199—574; Charles Bauer, 202-150-215—567; Harold Mathews, 152-168-247—567.

Barnes Meat Market, Mansfield Tire, Local No. 17 and Urschel Insurance are tied for the league lead with 16 victories and 5 defeats.

Art Hilborn of the second place Optimist team of the Club league, went on the honor roll with a 606 series comprised of games of 169, 245 and 192. Lloyd Pugh was runnerup with 199-202-189—590, followed by Pete Mayer, 551; G. Lanning sr., 543; R. Eller, 540, and Fred Miller, 525.

Baku Grotto leads the Optimists by two full games after both took three straight last night.

A 518 by Peg Shoup paced Women's Variety league bowlers as only two women crossed the 500 stripe. Peg had games of 159, 172, and 187 to set her mark. The other good score was a 507 by Florence Handwork.

Just missing the mark was Arlene Peters with 492, followed by Evelyn Marshman, 457; Nellie Foreman, 451; Mary Dintamin, 448; Martha Dye, 443, and Hazel Hilborn and Donna Schuster, 432.

Ingram Gives Some Ideas of Pro Grid War

NEW YORK—(INS)—Admiral Jonas Ingram, commissioner of the all-America conference, made a three-point landing in the pro football war today.

Club owners of the infant AAC, who engaged in a bitter war for patronage with the rival National Football league, endorsed the old sea dog's summary of the situation, to wit:

1. The AAC wants peace.
2. However, if the NFL wants war, they can have it.
3. There will be no amalgamation of the two leagues.

STUPID SKIRMISH

The former Navy coach termed the current competitive and payroll skirmishing between the two circuits "stupid and childish" and further recommended the following cures as imperative:

1. A common draft to avoid competitive bidding that has doubled the average annual expense.
2. Co-ordinated schedules in cities where more than one team is situated.
3. A realignment of locales which cannot support more than one or two clubs.

On this last point, Ingram suggested the pooling of the three Chicago teams, the Bears, Cardinals and Rockets, into two teams.

Ingram's assurance that the AAC will continue to operate next year was enforced by Art McBridge of the Cleveland Browns, Dan Topping of the New York Yankees and Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Junior High Grid Teams Await Game

John Simpson and Johnny Appleseed junior high schools have all the earmarks of college campuses on the day of the 'big game" as they await the kickoff of the city championship football contest.

Final tuning-up drills will be held at both schools this afternoon with pep assemblies and rallies set for tomorrow. The game itself is scheduled for 8 p. m. tomorrow under the Arlin field lights.

Johnny Appleseed will bring an undefeated record of seven games into the contest, while Simpson is on the short end of a 2-and-3 mark. Appleseed is after its third city title; Simpson has worn the crown the past two years and on four other occasions. The Pioneers only victories were in 1944 and '45.

STICKS TO GROUND

As to comparative styles, Simpson has stuck mainly to a straight ground attack while Appleseed's offense is built around its pint-sized quarterback, Freddie Zahn. Zahn is an excellent hand-off man and has a fine throwing arm, his only difficulty being in occasionally not getting the ball away soon enough.

On the receiving end of most of the passes is Captain Joe Diemer, 5 feet 11 inches tall and a three-year letterman. Fullback Johnny Auer is a good all-around ball carrier, while the halfbacks, Darce Shasky and Bill Huber, have done some good running.

The Pioneers hold a distinct weight advantage in the line while Simpson has an edge in the backfield. Appleseed linemen average around 158, Simpson, 142. The backfield is a different story at 130 to 136.

NO. 1 THREAT

Chief running threat on the Simpson squad is Bill Semenoff, 120-pound left halfback. He is the team's leading scorer with 26 points racked up in the five games.

Quarterback Bob Mathews has broken away for the longest runs, having one scoring dash of 80 yards. Another touchdown jaunt of some 85 yards was called back because of a clipping penalty. Like Appleseed's quarterback, Mathews weighs only 110 pounds.

The Bulldogs do not have a single starter left who played in last year's 18-6 Simpson victory. Only Left Half Benny Carbetta is back in school and he suffered a fractured leg in the first game of the season.

Servicemen Tied For First

QUANTICO, Va.—(INS)—An Army sergeant and a Marine captain squared off today in a precision-plus battle for the national pistol shooting championship.

Defending title-holder Huelet Benner, a technical sergeant from Fort Knox, Ky., faces Capt. Thurman Berrier of Marine Corps headquarters in Washington in a duel with .38 caliber pistols.

Also participating in the contest will be 22 other pistol experts, although they moved into the background yesterday after Benner and Berrier ended the first day's shooting in an uncanny tie.

Both men shot an 878 out of a possible 900 score with .22 caliber guns.

Jim Talks Baseball At Pigskin Meeting

By FRED THARP

This is a football story with a baseball twist.

Jimmy Dudley, a sports "mike" master, provided the odd turn of affairs at last night's Tyger booster football rally at Senior high school. Dudley is at home behind a football or a baseball microphone but last night dwelt mainly on the diamond.

That was all right with the football fans as Dudley was telling some inside stuff about the Cleveland Indians, champions of the baseball world. The balding, former Virginia football player handled the "mike" at 161 Cleveland Indians games last summer and is now working the Notre Dame and Detroit Lions pigskin affairs.

Dudley says: "I love sports—they play such an important role in the greatest nation in the world. Sports are a great outlet for enthusiasm."

TELLS MANY STORIES

With that as a theme, Jimmy told many inside stories of football and baseball happenings. He always returned to tales of the Indians, although "those 161 games made a long grind. I would work a football game for nothing, but it was sure wonderful to know those Indians."

"I think the Indians are on the verge of taking off where the great Yankee teams left off. The Tribe should be one-two for the next five years.Of course, they need a first-sacker who can hit. Robinson hits a long ball—they all go foul."

In his talk before the 500 boosters, Dudley told something of Bobby Feller and Satch Paige. He thinks Feller will continue as a big pay man and quotes Rapid Robert as saying, "I think 1949 will be the best year I've ever had."

Dudley remarked how the players kept being for Bobby even when he was losing. "He still has a fine hook and murderous fast ball and diligently goes about the business of keeping himself in the best of shape."

HIS TEETH CLACK

The Tribe boadcaster gets quite a kick telling of the loose plates in Paige's mouth. Dudley says the ancient one clacks when he talks. "He drinks hot water at all his meals each day."

Augie Morningstar and Paul Snyder of the Tyger staff and junior high coaches, Jimmy Lymper and Bob Kennedy, preceded Dudley on the speaker's platform. Morningstar blamed the town of Mansfield as one of the factors for the Tygers loss to Massillon last Friday.

The Tyger grid chief related numerous instances where the Massillon fans, students and bands held pep meetings to give the team a boost. "We can't rely on 11 kids to play 11 other kids and a town," he said. "Until we get our town fired up to fight Massillon as a city, we won't beat Massillon."

Snyder followed Morningstar with a scouting report of the Dayton Kiser team Mansfield plays Friday night. The Bengal scout thinks that Senior high can win by playing ball, although he expects an interesting ball game.

FINE PASSING

Snyder talked at length about the fine Dayton passing attack as "three boys pass and those two ends—Timmerman and Ferraro—are fine receivers. Kiser is young and has a lot of pep."

Both junior mentors predicted a good game.

Bob Kennedy, Simpson, "I expect a close game. It will be decided by line play."

Jimmy Lymper, Appleseed, "We have a good junior high ball club. It has speed, intelligence and desire. We should win but it may be close."

Combined 11 Takes Junior Grid Game

The Woodville-Lincoln Heights combination proved too much for East Mansfield seventh and eighth graders in a football game staged before some 400 spectators last night at Madison high field.

Woodville-Lincoln Heights wore the East Mansfielders down to score three touchdowns and a 20-0 victory. "Duck" Wilson ran over from the 15-yard stripe to give his team the lead in the second quarter.

East Mansfield stiffened but in the fourth period the combination team broke through for two more touchdowns. Milliron went over on an end sweep and Don Norris bucked over on a quarterback sneak from the three.

WOODVILLE-LINCOLN

Ends—Freeman, W. Arnold, E. Arnold.
Tackles—Mitchell, Hawkensmith.
Guards—Martin, Pickett.
Center—Hammett.
Backs—Norris, Hess, Wilson, Milliron.

EAST MANSFIELD

Tackles—Peterson, Shelton.
Guards—Hoffman, Burggraf.

Sala Winner Of 44th Bout

TOLEDO—(UP)—Lee Sala, Donora, Pa., middleweight boxer, ran his string of consecutive victories to 44 here last night when he scored a unanimous decision over Tony Demicco of Brooklyn.

Tony Janiro, sensational Youngstown, Ohio, welterweight and middleweight contender, fought to a draw with Lou Valles, New York, in another 10-round headliner bout.

Keep Flowers Out

EVANSTON, Ill.—(UP)—An injured knee will keep Dick Flowers, sophomore quarterback, out of the northwestern lineup for the remainder of the season. Flowers was hurt in the Syracuse game last Saturday.

Rams Meet Delaware 11 On Saturday

Madison's football Rams, beaten in their last two starts, will be at full strength for their Saturday night meeting with the Delaware Willis Panthers.

Larry Secrist, who missed the Mt. Vernon game last week, will be back at tailback. Secrist had infected elbows. Secrist appeared in Madison's 37-to-18 victory over Willis last year as a substitute.

Coach Ennis Walker did not feel too down-hearted over the Rams' one touchdown loss to Mt. Vernon last week. He figures that Madison would have defeated the tenth-ranking Yellow Jackets with a couple of breaks.

OUTGAIN JACKETS

The Rams outgained Mt. Vernon, 288 to 188 yards, and made 13 first downs to six for the Jackets.

Walker said last night, "The team looked much better against Mt. Vernon. Sure they made a couple of mistakes but they fought al lthe way. If we would have had Secrist in there we might have won. Jim McMillan was okay but Secrist has more experience."

The Madison mentor is still trying to whip up a good pass offense. Ed Chelski and McMillan will do the throwing until Secrist's arm gets in shape.

Saturday's game will conclude the 1948 home schedule for Madison. Tickets for the Dad's night game are on sale at the high school and at Sam Fox's.

The dads will meet at the school Friday at 7:30 p. m. and march onto the playing fields with their sons. After being introduced, they will sit in a special section.

Delaware has 11 veterans off its 1947 team but is resting in the cellar position of the Central Buckeye league.

Michigan Tops Among College 11's

Notre Dame Irish Retain Second Spot

By RALPH RODEN

NEW YORK—(AP)—Michigan's rampaging Wolverines retained their rating as the top college football team in the country today in the weekly Associated Press poll of the nation's sports writers.

The powerhouse from Ann Arbor drew 117 of the 206 first place votes and piled up 1,885 points to beat out runner-up Notre Dame by 275 points. The Irish, second also a week ago, gained 19 first place votes and polled 1,615 points.

Michigan, unbeaten and untied in five outings, downed Minnesota, 27-14 last Saturday while the Irish surged to a 27-12 victory over Iowa for their fifth straight conquest of a perfect season.

North Carolina's Tar Heels held on to third place, drawing 46 first place ballots and 1,568 points. The Irish, as they did a week ago, scored heavily in second place votes to beat out North Carolina's unbeaten squad for runner-up honors Points are figured on the basis of 10 for a first place, nine for second and so on down the line to one for tenth place.

RETAIN PLACES

California, Army, Georgia Tech and Pennsylvania, also among the nation's unbeaten teams, retained fourth, fifth , sixth and seventh places, respectively.

The Golden Bears, who brushed past Washington, 21-0, gained 13 first place votes and piled up 1,239 points. Army, which turned back previously unbeaten Cornell, 27-6, drew four first place ballots and wound up with 1,214 points.

Georgia Tech finished with 929 points and one first place vote. The Yellow Jackets rolled over Florida, 42-7. Penn, 20-14 conquerors of Navy, drew 505 points.

Body of Immortal Babe Ruth Goes Into Interment

NEW YORK—(AP)—The body of baseball's immortal Babe Ruth was in its final resting place today, more than two months after the former home run slugger's death Aug 16

In contrast to the thousands of mourners at final rites for Ruth Aug. 19, a bare handful was present yesterday when the body was taken from a receiving vault and lowered in to a grave in Gate of Heaven cemetery, Westchester county. The mahogany casket bore a silver name plate with the inscription "George Herman Ruth."

The widow, Mrs. Claire Ruth, and a few friends stood under a canopy sheltered from the rain and wind as Msgr George C Ehrhardt officiated at the private committment.

Interment plans were a closely guarded secret. The family wanted time to select the plot, on a grassy hillside 200 feet from the grave of Ruth's friend, former Mayor James J. Walker.

Jim Fiacco, Syracuse guard, made nine straight tackles against Cornell.

Indians Place 2 Players On Big League 'Star' Nine

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK—(AP)—Five players from the American and five from the National make up the 1948 major league all-star team as selected for the Associated Press by 220 baseball experts throughout the nation.

Only six of the 16 big league clubs, three in each league, are represented in the third annual all-star aggregation The world champion Cleveland Indians won two berths as did the National league champion Braves.

Of the ten men selected, no fewer than six are holdovers from the 1947 all-star team They consist of the entire infield of Johnny, Mize, Joe Gordon, Bob Elliott and Lou Boudreau; Ted Williams and Joe DiMaggio, who comprise two-thirds of the outfield.

No player was an unanimous choice Stan Musial, the National league's batting king, and Williams, the champion stickman of the American league, were tied for the most votes Each drew 212 of the 220 ballots cast.

MUSIAL SCATTERED

All Williams' votes were for left field. Musial's were scattered over three positions The Cardinals' great fly-chaser, who led his loop in batting, runs scored hits, runs batted in, doubles and triples, drew 195 votes for right field, five for center, and 12 for first base. The 27-year-old pride of Donora, Pa., won a place on the '46 all-star team at first, but lost out last year in the outfield to Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh.

DiMaggio, spark plug of the Yankees, won the centerfield post hands down with 210 votes, third highest total among the 63 vote-getters DiMag, with Williams and Musial, make up one of the greatest hitting outfields ever put together on an all-star team They hit 103 home runs and drove in 415 runs last season.

Boudreau, playing manager of the Indians, and the logical choice for the American league's most valuable player award, ranked fourth with 209 votes to easily win the shortstop berth

Nobody else topped the 200 mark Johnny Mize of the Giants, who tied Kiner for the majors' home run crown with 40 circuit swats, received 118 votes and Gordon, the Indians' great clutch-hitter, got 108.

Johnny Sain of the Braves gathered 140 votes to be named the righthanded pitcher of the team The tall Arkansan curve ball specialist who won 24 games during the regular season, and shut out the Indians, 1-0, in the world series opener, more than doubled the 60 votes drawn by Bob Lemon, Cleveland's 20-game winner.

The battle for the top lefthanded pitcher was much closer Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, 20-game winner of the Cardinals, was the victor He was backed by 90 votes to 80 for Hal Newhouser, who won 21 games for the second division Detroit Tigers. Warren Spahn, Sain's pitching mate on the Braves' received 30 votes Johnny Smitz of the Chicago Cubs got 14, Gene Bearden of the Indians, four, and Johnny Vander Meer of the Cincinnati Reds and Bill Wight of the Chicago White Sox, one apiece

Birdie Tebbetts, peppery backstop of the Red Sox failed to reach 100, but had enough to win the catching job His 82 votes were 32 more than runner-up Jim Hegan of Cleveland, was able to muster

The smallest number required by any winner went to Elliott The Braves' cleanup hitter received only 45 votes, about one-fifth of the total cast, yet managed to take the third base job

George Kell of Detroit finished in the runner-up spot for the third consecutive year, with 40 votes Ken Keltner of Cleveland was third with 36 ballots, only two more than his St Louis Browns' rival, Bob Dillinger.

Meet Postponed

Ohio State Looking For More Speed

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Coach Wesley Fesler is looking for electric helmets or something else to spark his Ohio State university football team into more speed.

The Buckeyes have won four ball games and lost one, but they are frankly a little on the slow side and have to have a head start to make much out of punt returns or pass interceptions.

At yesterday's press-radio luncheon Fesler admitted that the Wisconsin backs outsped his own in Saturday's 34-32 nightmare (the Bucks had the 34). But he added·

SOUND DEFENSE

"After studying motion pictures of the game, we're sure we went into the game with a sound defense We had more defensive mental mistakes against Wisconsin than in our other games combined, multiplied by two."

Then Jack Graf, who scouted next week's opponent, Northwestern, in its last three games, warned:

"Northwestern is just as fast as Wisconsin but doesn't indulge in any of the Badger cleverness Frank Aschenbrenner, Art Murakowski and the other Wildcat backs are strong runners and you have to get both arms around them before you can think about tackling them."

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Mansfield Girls Get Letters of Thanks

Girl Scouts Aid War Victims

Early last March in Reinheim, Germany, a young German couple became the proud parents of a baby girl. Conditions being what they are in that battle-torn country, the layette for the infant was most inadequate.

Three days after the baby's arrival, a package was delivered to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Huhlinger. In it was a complete layette for their baby, sent with the best wishes of Girl Scout troop 29 of Mansfield, of which Mrs. Lionel Smaltz is troop leader.

One of the troop's most prize possessions is a letter just received from Mrs. Huhlinger in which she writes: "Please say to all givers our best thanks that is coming from our heart, especially to your dear daughter Scouts. How grateful must we feel when you place yourselves over the ocean at our side with your readiness to help us."

In describing the arrival of the package, Mrs. Huhlinger wrote: "Our little baby must, in the first days, be content with paper swaddlings. Three days later your packet arrived and with it you can't imagine all our joy. The soap alone caused an expression of joy. Quite otherwise we can now meet the new day."

This was just one of 43 clothing kits mailed from Mansfield to foreign countries by the 70 Girl Scout troops of the city which are participating in the national program of the Girl Scout organization in collecting and sending clothing to children in other countries.

In addition to those already mailed, fourteen are now in the process of being assembled, with at least five more planned for shipment. The original plans called for each troop to send one kit, but several troops have sent many more than their quota.

Mrs. Frank Gadfield's troop, number 53, has 16 girls, each of whom has been responsible for providing clothing for one complete package. The girls, all students at Rebecca Grubaugh school, have been meeting at their leader's home with their mothers to sort the clothing and package it for mailing, it was learned.

"ONE A MONTH"

Mrs. Hans Plaut's troop of girl scouts have sent eight packages abroad, and plan to send one each month until the program is completed.

The packages, which are called "Friendship Kits", are divided into three classifications, infant, one to four year age groups, and the four to fourteen year old clothing requirements.

Along with the "Friendship Kit" project, Mansfield's Girl Scouts are participating in a program to send CARE packages abroad. Already twelve have been mailed, with others to follow.

Funds for the purchase of the packages have been secured through a plan adopted by the Girl Scouts who agreed to have a Juliette Low Birthday party last March, but serve no refreshments. The money thus saved was turned over to the CARE package fund, and amounted to $162, Miss Margaret Rooney, executive secretary of the Mansfield Girl Scouts, explained.

Mrs. K. E. Buhr, who is council chairman for the CARE package and "Friendship Kit" program, also has received a letter from the recipient of one of the Girl Scout's gifts.

The writer, a young native of Czechoslovakia, is a medical student in Nuremberg, Germany. His letter described conditions in his homeland, and told in detail of the terror and privation in his land, which is under Russian domination. This situation was responsible for his transferring from a medical school in his homeland to a university in Germany.

His letter said "I and all my friends were very surprised at our gift. I, in my name and the names of all the others, thank you."

Similar letters of thanks and appreciation have been received from other countries by troop leaders, and all of them will be read to the Girl Scouts when they meet at John Simpson Junior high school next Saturday afternoon for a "Scouts Own" program, when the 1,270 Girl Scouts of the city will hear reports on their project.

The Girl Scouts, whose program is directed by 500 adult volunteer leaders, is a Red Feather agency of the Mansfield Community Chest, which is conducting a campaign to raise $122,635.

Traffic Jam Created By Street Birth

PORTLAND, Ore. — (U.P.) — Attendants at the Portland Dog and Cat hospital reported a litter of cocker spaniel puppies doing nicely today.

Their birth Friday created quite a stir.

The mother, named Little Girl, bore them in front of a downtown department store, blocking traffic for several blocks. Her owner, Mrs. Bert E. Solomon, Hollywood, surprisedly held the leash.

Police helped the dog whelp then rushed her to the hospital to uncork the traffic jam.

Boy of 8 Killed By Falling Tree

HAMILTON — (AP) — William Musch, jr., eight-year-old son of William F. Musch, superintendent of buildings for the Hamilton school system, was injured fatally yesterday when a tree fell on him at the Musch home.

Dr. Garrett J. Boone, Butler county coroner, said he had been informed the accident occurred when the father was attempting to uproot a tree with a tractor.

Ohio Prexy Defends Poe

SPRINGFIELD — (U.P.) — Dr. John Ward Ostrom today came to the defense of Edgar Allan Poe, who long has been pegged as a man with little moral character.

Dr. Ostrom's two-volume work, "The Letters of Edgar Allan Poe," was published today by the Harvard University Press.

It is true that the famed poet and story-teller did a lot of moaning and whining, the Wittenberg college English instructor said. "But it must be remembered," he added, "that he was not only destitute but sick much of the time that his wife was ill for six years before her death."

"His letters, however, give no indication that he was either a drug addict or a confirmed drunkard, and they do indicate that he was faithful to his wife," Dr. Ostrom said. "From all appearances, his so-called affairs with women came after his wife's death."

Dr. Ostrom believes that the general impression that Poe was a drunkard has been greatly magnified.

Congress Kept Its Promises, M'Gregor Says

Cites Income Tax Reduction

SHELBY—Congressman J. Harry McGregor told a Republican rally here last night that he is proud to have been a member of the 80th Congress because it "kept its promises."

McGregor addressed some 175 persons at the Shelby high school. Other speakers included State Senator Ralph A. Winter, of Lodi, Attorney Huntington Carlile, of Columbus, who spoke for the state ticket, and Republican candidates for county offices.

McGregor, pointing out that this nation recognizes freedom of opportunity, said the Eighteenth congress "recognized that freedom by keeping its pledges to the American people."

McGregor asserted "Congress gave the American people a tax cut, and it was not a rich man's tax cut."

The income tax bill passed by the last congress took 7,400,000 persons completely off the tax rolls, adding that 6,900,000 of those persons had yearly salaries under $3,000

"I'm proud to have been a member of the congress which gave the working man a 'magna charta,' of labor," McGregor asserted.

He said he referred to the Taft-Hartley law, and added that that law gives a man the privilege of working, forces labor leaders to tell the membership what becomes of their dues, and gives a laborer the right to get up and have his say at union meetings. The Taft-Hartley law also gives the membership the right to determine if there will be a strike, he said

Congress appropriated 400 million dollars for rural electrification which was 264 millions more than any other congress appropriated, the congressman said.

"I'm glad to have been a member of a congress that opposed regimentation and control. Does 16 years of New Dealism justify another four years in office for the Democrats?" he asked. "Examine the New Deal record, it is a record of tax and tax, and spend and spend."

SEES HUGE BUDGET

He said he learned the President would ask a 46-billion-dollar budget in January, if he is re-elected, and charged that he wouldn't ask for one cent to fight communism.

McGregor said his opponent, Attorney Robert W. Levering of Mt. Vernon, is "associating with the wrong kind of people." He said literature opposing his re-election was printed on the back of letterheads of a Mansfield local of the United Electrical Workers union.

The United Electrical Workers is one of three unions in the country in which the international officers have refused to sign non-communist affidavits, the congressman said

He said that if Truman is re-elected, "you can expect a repeal of the Taft Hartley law." He said the President has used the Taft-Hartley law in seven instances, "yet Mr. Truman wants to repeal that law."

He said a Republican senate also must be elected, as well as President and Vice-President, to promote unity.

McGregor was introduced by Henry Sheets of Shelby

State Senator Ralph Winter of Lodi said that because of the critical world situation efficiency is needed in Washington and effici-

Republicans Angered By Truman's 'Mud-Slinging'

(By United Press)

President Truman's charge that the Republican party is a front for dictator-minded reactionary forces brought cries of "mud-slinging" and "inexcusable falsehoods" today from GOP campaign headquarters.

Herbert Brownell jr, manager of the Dewey-Warren ticket, ridiculed the President's acrimonious speech in Chicago last night as "a transparent attempt to drag the campaign down to his own level"

The Republican campaign manager made his statement as Gov. Thomas E. Dewey himself headed for Chicago where he will speak tonight from the same platform occupied by Mr. Truman last night. Dewey was expected to ignore the President's remarks in adherence to his policy of refraining from "vituperation and abuse" in the closing week of the campaign.

Meanwhile, Mr. Truman campaigned through Illinois, Indiana and Ohio on his way to Cleveland where he speaks tonight.

In his Chicago address, the Chief Executive said "Powerful reactionary forces" are working through the Republican party in an effort to set up a Fascist dictatorship in this country. They are the same type of forces, he said, that backed the rise of Hitler in Germany, Mussolini in Italy and Tojo in Japan.

The President's speech climaxed the most spectacular political demonstration in the Windy City's history. Some 750,000 Chicagoans turned out to cheer the Democratic candidate during a three-mile parade that rolled along under an umbrella of fireworks.

Republican bigwigs are planning a similarly boisterous reception for Dewey tonight.

A spokesman said the Governor will emphasize in his speech the important interdependence of business, labor and agriculture. He will endeavor to show "how government policies friendly to each will help build a healthy, vigorous America," the spokesman said.

Both Dewey and Mr. Truman came in for criticism from Progressive party candidate Henry A. Wallace. Speaking in Jersey City, N. J, Wallace said the President "turned over to bankers and generals his power to act on behalf of the people." And he described Dewey as "a pathetic figure" who, if elected, will "go down in history as a worse president than either Herbert Hoover or Harry Truman"

Herbert Raps Gambling, Lausche Attacks Roads

(By Associated Press)

The governor talked about gambling and the ex-governor talked about roads in Ohio last night to start off the last full week before election.

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert, Republican seeking reelection, said the ex-governor, Democrat Frank J Lausche, who is trying to win back the job, was "publicly condemning and privately wooing the gambling interests of this state"

Lausche told a series of Cleveland ward rallies that Herbert's administration had prevented nearly $40,000,000 in federal highway money from coming into Ohio by letting the "preparation of plans break down."

At a Dayton rally, Governor Herbert declared that Lausche claimed credit publicly for driving "the lawless out of local communities."

"He was, or should have been, aware that at least a dozen gambling places were operating full blast in Franklin county (Columbus) some almost as near as the State House as is the executive mansion.

In his Cleveland talks, Lausche asserted that money was "being poured down the drain on ineffectual maintenance of crumbling roads"

"The condition of Ohio highways," he said, "is the result of the substantial ending of maintenance and new construction during the war years. The state has unsuccessfully attempted to catch up since that time and will not catch up to the degree that the future requires because it requires facts, as well as men and materials. The state government does not have the facts. It is in fact resisting the process of acquiring facts because it fears the political effect of an inquiry.

Demands Jews Give Up Gains

U. N. Mediator Raps Violation

PARIS —(UP)— The United Nations demanded today that Israel give up the Negev towns and territory won from the Egyptians in the short-lived campaign which began in south Palestine on Oct 14.

Dr Relph Bunche, acting UN mediator for Palestine, announced his demand that the Israeli forces withdraw from their newly won positions at an emergency meeting of the security council, called to hear Egyptians charges of Israeli truce violations.

The request for the realignment of armed forces in south Palestine as they were Oct. 14 was addressed in Bunche's name to both the Jews and the Arabs yesterday. But the Jews had scored the only appreciable gains and it was to them that the UN move applied

Bunche's action, which he said had not been answered by either Arabs or Jews, confronted the Tel Aviv government with a choice of defying the mediator or giving up the gains which undermined the Egyptian position in south Palestine.

The Jews captured Beersheba, ancient town known as the capital of the Negev, opened a corridor to isolated Jewish settlements deeper in the Negev, and damaged Egyptian communications so badly that the forward positions of the Egyptians were threatened.

Western Powers Meet on Berlin

PARIS — (AP) — The western powers planned to meet today to map their next move in the United Nations security council on the Berlin crisis.

The deadlock on the Berlin case became more pronounced last night when Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky vetoed a plan for settling the dispute submitted by the six "neutral" members of the council

Despite the veto, well informed quarters predicted negotiations to settle the dispute with the council would continue among the United States, Britain, France, Russia and the neutral members.

Sources close to Juan A. Bramagulia, acting president of the council, said the Argentine felt the western and Soviet viewpoints on Berlin still might be reconciled after further conversations.

Bramuglia was pictured as basing his belief upon the fact that Vishinsky said last night the Russians were willing to raise the Berlin blockade if adequate control of Berlin's currency were established at the same time

10 Jailed In Probe

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—Ten witnesses who refused to testify before a federal grand jury investigating communist leanings among government workers in southern California, were ordered to jail early today by Federal Judge Pierson M. Hall.

Eight of them were sent to cells immediately while two women were given until tomorrow to make arrangements for the care of their children

Judge Hall ordered them locked up "until they see fit to answer the grand jury questions."

The eight ordered to jail immediately are Mrs. Margaret Charles Noble, Mrs. Delphine M. Smith, Henry Steinberg, Samuel H. Kasinowitz, Philip Bock, Ben Dobbs, Wesley Bissey and Frank W. Alexander.

None of the ten was a government employe.

The sudden action of the government attorneys was so secret that several of Carter's assistants joined with deputy marshals in serving the early morning subpoenas.

Mansfield Escapes Major Mishaps

Dense Fog Shrouds City Area, State

A harassing fog that blanketed Mansfield and the middle west today slowed traffic to a crawl. The Mansfield area, however, escaped major traffic mishaps.

Elsewhere in Ohio the dense fog contributed to a number of traffic accidents.

Twelve persons were injured five seriously enough to warrant hospitalization, when an American Bus lines vehicle left the road to avoid an oncoming truck near Zanesville on U. S. Route 40.

Near Columbus a gasoline tandem trailer swerved in the heavy fog, struck a parked car and hurled it into a drive-in restaurant. Nine persons in the building escaped injury.

The heavy fog was blamed for the crash of a Greyhound bus and two trucks near Upper Sandusky, resulting in injuries to four members of a North Dakota family.

The fog blanket, heaviest of the season, extended as far west as Illinois and from below the Ohio river into Canada. Weathermen said it formed when cool air suddenly swept into an area where it was comparatively warm yesterday The air was moist and there was little wind to carry away the fog.

DIPS TO 34 DEGREES

Mansfield enjoyed a comforable 55 degrees yesterday at 2:30 p. m. With the first mists of fog, the mercury dropped to a frigid 34 early this morning

The weatherman, however, optimistically predicted that Mansfield would bask in the sun today and would warm up somewhat.

"Temperatures will average two to four degrees above normal. Mild the first part, becoming cooler about Saturday. Rain about Friday night or Saturday with amount less than ¼ inch.

$69,959 Pledged

With almost half the quota of $122,635 still to raise in only two more days of campaign work, Mansfield's Community Chest workers were urged today to turn in their reports to headquarters, whether or not they had completed their districts

Willis Carto, campaign chairman, said today that campaign funds pledges total $69,959, leaving a balance of $52,676 which must be raised by Thursday night if Mansfield can be assured of assuming full responsibility toward its underprivileged, and its character building agencies for the coming year.

The Stars had reported contributions totaling $29 358 toward a goal of $61,555 Feathers with a reported $38,401, have a goal of $58,080

Several more small industrial firms have reached their quotas. They included. Richland Auto Parts company, Mansfield Paint company, Mansfield Iron and Steel company, and the J M Cousins firm.

Sounds Fire Warning

Merrymakers Told To Be Careful

Fire Chief L. J Steele today warned parents that Halloween candles, costumes, and bonfires can cause serious fire tragedies and asked them to safeguard children against burns while celebrating the holiday.

Concurring with the engineers of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, Chief Steele suggested that children should use flashlights instead of candles in their Jack-o-Lanterns.

Pointing out that many children have been burned by trying to light candles or in upsetting pumpkins containing lighted candles, the fire chief suggested the use of flashlights with the reflector head removed

Other safety suggestions included:

Don't dress children in flimsy cotton or paper costumes.

Don't use inflammable decorations for parties or place lighted candles in windows

12 Injured In Bus Accident

ZANESVILLE—(INS)—Twelve persons were injured today when a New York-to-St. Louis bus careened off Route 40 the National highway in a heavy fog two miles east of Zanesville

Five of the injured were held at Bethesda hospital, Zanesville, for further treatment, but were said to be out of danger.

The other seven, including driver C. E. Bailey 39 of Columbus, were released after treatment.

A Dollar Isn't Enough!

-An Editorial

Campaign workers are finding the going tough in the current Community Chest drive. With only two full days to go, reports indicate that only slightly more than half of the needed cash has been pledged or paid.

Facing the problem frankly, workers say the whole trouble is "dollar subscriptions." Too many people are brushing off solicitors with the words, "Here, I'll give you a buck."

There are approximately 19,000 wage earners in Mansfield. If each gave only "a buck" there just would not be a Community Chest. Either the splendid work of the 12 red feather agencies would come to an end or the city would again be saddled with 12 annual drives for funds instead of one. Certainly nobody wants either of those things to occur.

Some contributors have sought to explain their small gifts on the basis of a complaint against one particular agency. But, think! Even if you had a complaint against half the agencies and separate drives were being conducted for all 12, what would your total contribution be? You would probably gladly give a dollar to EACH of the agencies you favor.

Look at it another way: a contribution of one dollar means less than 10 cents per agency for a full year's operation. Surely the work of ANY of the agencies means more to you than the cost of ten cigarets a year.

Think it over. If you are a "dollar contributor" and want to boost your gift, remember every increase will be gratefully received. If you have not yet made your pledge, make it a liberal one. The Community Chest reaches into every phase of the city's life. It deals not only with the unfortunates of today but with the youth who will be running the community a few years hence. The Chest benefits everyone, but it can do so only if everyone gives—and gives generously.

Grocer Rues Kindness To Hitchhiker

AKRON —(INS)— The next time Charles A Himebaugh of Akron befriends a hitchhiker may be slow in coming

Himebaugh told police he was closing his grocery store last night when the last customer in the store asked for a lift.

When the two got in the store's delivery truck, Himebaugh said, the customer pulled a gun, took command of the vehicle, and pulled away with $200.

City to Get Analysis of Traffic Plan

Officials Asked To Attend Session

An analysis of the traffic program that won for Mansfield first place in the Ohio traffic safety contest in 1947 will be presented to city officials at an open meeting Nov. 16, Mayor Roy W. Vaughn announced today.

Harry Neal, chief engineer of the division of traffic and safety of the state highway department, wrote Mayor Vaughn that the analysis was made by the state in cooperation with the National Safety council as requested by the city.

"The inventory is accomplished," the letter stated, "by comparing your program with accomplishments of leading cities in your population group and the President's highway safety conference.

"The inventory is not intended to approve or disapprove the procedures and techniques now employed in your city.

"Rather, it brings to attention proven methods based in factual data gleaned from reports of hundreds of cities and deals primarily with personnel, organization and activities of proven effectiveness in programs of traffic control and accident prevention."

Neal suggested that members of city council, the police chief, traffic commissioner, city engineer, administration of the city schools, chairmen of the safety committees of local civic organizations and the general public be invited.

Mayor Vaughn said the meeting would be held in the evening in the municipal courtroom on the third floor of the city building.

Dr Bushong, superintendent of the Lima State hospital, and Dr. Bateman, superintendent of the Columbus State hospital, were appointed by the court to examine Daniels Each had presented a bill of $500 for his services

1 Killed In Fight For Mine

More Violence Anticipated

PARIS — (UP) — Striking French coal miners fired on government troops and blasted them with mines and hand grenades today when the soldiers attempted to seize two occupied pits near Ales in central France, the interior ministry announced

One army second lieutenant was wounded by a bullet, one miner was killed, and several miners also were injured, the announcement said. It added that 100 strikers were arrested, most of them carrying firearms. One miner was reported injured seriously, and was taken to a hospital.

Despite the fighting, the government seized four pits occupied by strikers before noon at Rochelle, in the mountain valley north of Ales, 90 miles northwest of Marseille.

Other troops, striking with overpowering force for the second day in the northern coal fields, seized three more pits without resistance in addition to the 12 seized when the campaign opened yesterday.

The government attack on the Ales pits, 90 miles south of St. Etienne, was ordered after a sharp fight Saturday at the Grand Combe mine in which 60 out of 75 Republican security guards were injured. Heavily outnumbered, the guards withdrew from the entire Alea area.

During last night powerful columns of colonial troops and police moved quietly through mountain valleys around Ales and sealed off all roads leading to the four Rochebelle pits.

MAN ROAD BLOCKS

Strikers received reports of their movements and sounded sirens at 2 a. m. and again at 4 a. m. By that time the troops were in command of the roads, with colonial infantry in full battle kit manning road blocks.

Reinforcements for the strikers were turned back in a pouring rain while other forces cleared away barricades of tree trunks and carts along roads leading to the pits.

Guards and gendarmes seized all hilltops overlooking the strike-bound pits One of the pits capitulated without fighting and the troops marched in. Strikers in two other pits defied orders to come out.

Eyewitness reports of the fighting were lacking, as newsmen were not permitted to pass the roadblocks around the mines. Officials asserted, however, that troops were met with gunfire, hand grenades and small mines when they attacked the pitheads.

It was not clear whether two or three mines were involved in the fighting. The ministry of the interior said all four pits in the Rochebelle group were occupied shortly before noon.

During the battle at the mines, strikers in Ales attempted to attack the sub-prefecture, gendarmerie headquarters and police headquarters. They were driven off by security guard reserves who remained in town

Railroad and postal workers in Ales immediately called a protest walkout

In the Bethune sector, where government forces had not yet reached, the strikers reinforced their pithead pickets as if they intended to resist the troops.

Army Sets Draft Quota

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The Army will draw its first three-months quota of 45,000 draftees from the ranks of 25 and 24-year-old selective service registrants who are single and without war service, it was indicated today.

Because the Army is prepared to handle only 10 000 men in November, 15,000 in December, and 20,000 in January, its first quarter call is not expected to tap those registrants under 24 years of age. In the 25 and 24-year age groups are 144,175 men who appear available for immediate military training.

General Would Crash Red Blockade With Motor Convoy

Hap Arnold Says Reds 'Bluffing'

'Patton Would Crash Through'

SONOMA, Calif. —(U.P.)— Russia is attempting a gigantic bluff against the United States and the western allies but is "not ready to fight, doesn't want to fight and won't fight" if her bluff is called, General H. H. (Hap) Arnold told the United Press today.

"I've been away from Washington now for a couple of years and I may be slightly off the beam, but that's my considered opinion," the war-time chief of the Army Air Forces said.

Arnold was asked what positive steps the western allies might take in the present situation.

"Why not take a motor convoy and push it through the corridor to Berlin," he replied. "Perhaps we might have learned something from George Patton's technique. If Patton were running the show he would take it through."

Asked what the Russians would do if an armed allied convoy did push through to Berlin, Arnold replied: "Not much, if anything."

Arnold, now technically retired and raising white-faced cattle on his Rancho El Feliz in California's Valley of the Moon, still maintains an office at the nearby Hamilton field air force installation.

"We need today the same courage of conviction we had when we marched into Berlin," the white-haired, smooth-faced general said.

"It would be a grave and basic error to let the Communists bluff us out in the present deadlock in Germany.

"They are not ready to fight and they do not want to fight. We should curb the national tendency to be in awe of the Russians, an awe amounting almost to fear. If our people will take the time coolly to analyze what Russia does and does not possess militarily, America will be greatly heartened.

"Of course it's easy to lean against the fence rail here in California and call the shots as to what we should do and should not do on the other side of the world. I may be 100 per cent wrong. But I did have direct experience with the Russians under combat conditions throughout the war and to that extent I base my personal opinion and conclusions upon fact.

"The only American in the post-war world to tell the Russians where to get off and make them like it is MacArthur in Tokyo.

"Time plays with the Russians. We have the superior power now. They may have it later. In the meantime, it would be folly to let them bridge the gap by bluff alone. Hitler pulled that stuff 10 years ago. We should now make certain of our objectives, state them so clearly that neither the Russians, our allies, or our own people can misunderstand, and then firmly enforce them. The Russians will not fight today. Tomorrow they may if we let them continue to create modern armed power.

Life Hard For German Housewives

Potatoes Stored In Family Beds

LINCOLN, Neb. (U.P.) — American housewives discontented in this era of high prices should consider the plight of German women, according to Dr. Otto Hoiberg, University of Nebraska sociologist.

Hoiberg returned recently from three years' service in Berlin with the U. S. Office of Military Government.

The problem of protecting vegetables from freezing is acute, he said, and some German housewives store potatoes in their beds. A change in the family menu frequently consists of switching the black bread serving from before to after the potato course, he said.

Coffee grounds are brewed three and four times, and finally pressed into service as a cake ingredient, Hoiberg said.

The sociologist urged American women's groups to contact German women's clubs, through the military government's women's division at Nurenberg, and aid the latter in their self-help programs.

Voluntary women's groups, forced underground during the Nazi regime, now are operating marital guidance councils, child care agencies, assisting in clothing distribution, and promoting discusion of means for insuring peace and sound international relationships.

ency would be promoted by having one party in power, both in the executive and congressional branches of the national government.

Turning to state issues, Winter called for a survey by tax experts to recodify the tax laws. He said enough taxes are being collected, but that political subdivisions and school districts still have deficits. "We don't need more taxes, but we've got to see that the money goes to the right places," he said.

URGES ROAD PROJECT

He said when it comes to roads Ohioans should "hang their heads in shame." It will require two billion dollars to give Ohio adequate, modern highways, Winter said. He urged the creation of toll highways, like the Pennsylvania Turnpike, to give private capital the opportunity to build roads since roads can't be built with taxes. He said the roads would be part of the public road systems.

Carlile said Gov. Thomas J. Herbert has an excellent record, and that his type of executive leadership is sorely needed. He said Herbert had reduced taxes while the price of everything is going up.

He said Herbert had made 49 million more dollars available for schools. Carlile said the big issue in America today is unity. "Let's talk unity," he said. "Under a Republican leadership, we, the people, will move forward together, toward a stronger, more united America."

Mayor William Morris of Shelby, presided. He introduced James V. Will, chairman of the county Republican central committee, who introduced the Republican candidates.

Will said they were a fine group of candidates, adding that Republicans have the best opportunity since 1928 to elect all of them to office.

He asserted that the opposition party had a number of candidates who are asking the voters "to perpetuate themselves in office." He said that had tended to discourage young people from entering politics.

Introduced were John C. Friday, for county commissioner; Neil S. Robinson, for state representative; Edward R. Friday, for clerk of courts; County Commissioner John W. Selby, C. M. Chatlain, for sheriff, H. R. Barnes for recorder, and Prosecutor Theodore Lutz.

Morris spoke on behalf of candidates for judgeships, Robert M. Putnam, seeking re-election to the Fifth district court of appeals, and Kingsley A. Taft, Edward Turner, and James Garfield Stewart, candidates for the state supreme court.

It's a Red Feather Agency

Clinic Seeks Complete School Checkup

If present plans materialize, every boy and girl in Mansfield's public schools will have had a complete dental examination by the end of the current school year, provided by the Mansfield Dental Clinic, in cooperation with the Mansfield Dental association, according to Mrs. Robert W. Stevens, president of the Clinic association.

So far the examinations have been given to Bushnell school pupils, and those requiring attention have been given cards to be signed and returned by the parents. In cases where dental corrections are financially impossible, the children will be treated free of charge in the Clinic room at the City Building.

The Clinic is open each Tuesday and Wednesday mornings between the hours of 9 and 12, with local dentists, members of the Mansfield Dental association, taking turns contributing their time and services to the examinations and treatment.

The Clinic has been in operation in Mansfield for the past nine years, but this will be the first year they have conducted the dental examination in all the schols. A complete dental office has been set up in their office, with Mrs. Myrtle Moyer serving as Clinic nurse.

Officers of the Dental Clinic, in addition to Mrs. Stevens are Mrs. Carl Kahl, vice president; Mrs. J. L. Hanley, treasurer, and Mrs. W. J. Bissman secretary.

The Dental Clinic is one of 12 agencies which will benefit from the Mansfield Community Chest's campaign to raise $122,635, the 1949 quota.

Another agency which will receive support from the Mansfield Community Chest is the United Service Organization which has been re-activated at the request of Secretary of Defense James L. Forrestal.

The national USO program will serve to strengthen the new draft law by providing recreational services away from home for the boys in service, Secretary Forrestal says.

Each of the 1,200 Community Chests in America has accepted the responsibility of raising this year's goal in order to save more than a million dollars which would be the cost of setting up a national campaign organization and getting out campaign material throughout the country, Willis F. Carto, general chairman of the Mansfield Community Fund campaign, explained.

Mansfield's quota for the USO is $3,436, and it was stated that no local USO centers will be located near Mansfield. All centers will be near military bases, where Mansfield draftees may enjoy the recreational facilities of the organization.

Barefoot Defendant Sent to Jail

Broke Window 'Just For Fun'

Charles Bishop of Kentucky was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail today where at least his feet will be warm.

He appeared in municipal court today in bare feet to answer a charge of malicious destruction of property. Yesterday he threw a stone through a $60 plate-glass window at the Volunteers of America headquarters on North Main street.

When Judge H. H. Schettler asked him why he had thrown the stone, he answered:

"Just for fun."

Just what happened to his shoes is a bit of mystery. Police said he had them on when he was arrested, but they have disappeared.

Gaylord McElvain, Mansfield, R. D. 4, was fined $175 and costs and lost his right to drive for six months on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. One hundred and 25 dollars of the fine were suspended on condition he pay damages to Elliott Porter.

Garfield Purdy, Mansfield, R. D. 3, was fined $15 and costs for unsafe operation while Artie Griffitts, Trimble road, paid $10 and costs for speeding.

CHARGE DISMISSED

After a two-and-one-half hour hearing, charges of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence brought against Hubert E. Williams, 41 Wise avenue, were dismissed because of insufficient evidence.

John Karns, 89, is on his way to southern Ohio to visit his daughter, thanks to Judge Schettler.

Karns was brought into court today on an intoxication charge. The well-dressed Karns told the court that he had been a policeman in Kansas City for 30 years and knew the difference between right and wrong.

He said he had never been in court before, except when he was younger and was brought in for fighting.

He explained to the judge that he was suffering from a heart condition, and had to be taken off the train in Canton when he had a heart attack. He said he took a few drinks here "to bolster myself."

Judge Schettler fined him $5 and costs, but suspended the fine to allow him to continue on the way.

Chavre Gives Talk on India

Mansfielders interested in the political conflict in India, can hear the situation discussed by an "insider" tonight when Nickanth Chavre conducts an open discussion session at the YMCA.

Maurice Taylor, general secretary of the "Y," said the meeting will open at 7:30 p. m. Chavre spoke to Mansfield Rotarians at their weekly meeting this noon.

Chavre, who was educated at the University of Michigan, was one of five engineers "loaned" by the Ford Motor company to the Russian government prior to World War II to build the Gorkhi plant. He spent four years as a close associate of the late Gandhi and founded the YMCA organization in Bombay.

Five Organizations Endorse Bond Issue

Five more Mansfield organizations have endorsed the proposed $2,500,000 school bond issue, Dr. Edwin Fensch, chairman of the campaign speakers' bureau, said today. They include: Sons of Union Veterans, Sappho club, Women's Benefit Association No. 77, Richland County CIO Council and ladies auxiliary of Local No. 711.

Calls Tax Reduction 'Political Gesture'

William A. Calhoun, president of the Richland County Young Democratic club, charged last night that the sales tax reduction passed by the state Republican administration was "just a political gesture." Calhoun spoke at a Democratic rally in the Shenandoah Grange hall. About 50 persons attended.

He asserted that the Republican governor attempted just before the election to effect a tax reduction which he had promised two years ago.

The reduction amounts only to one-eighth of one per cent, Calhoun declared, and means only a saving of 75 cents a year to the average taxpayer.

Calhoun asserted that Robert W. Levering, candidate for congress, offered his services immediately to Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur when the latter called for volunteers in the Philippines. He said Levering volunteered and fought in the Battle of Bataan although he was a civilian attorney with the war department at the time.

Levering has shown a courageous attitude in facing the issues of the day as the campaign goes on, Calhoun declared.

CHARGES 'INTERFERENCE'

C. L. Mitchell, candidate for state representative, said he had served on the state fair board under the last four governors. He charged that only under the present governor had there been political interference from the governor's office in the running of the fair board.

Harold Lutz, candidate for prosecutor, promised, if elected, to give careful consideration and forceful attention to the problems of juvenile delinquency. He said greater supervised recreation would reduce juvenile delinquency.

E. P. Long, candidate for sheriff, said farmers depend on the sheriff for law enforcement and promised to increase law enforcement facilities for the rural areas.

Clerk of Courts Howard Wenning said the voters of Richland county have an investment in him because of his training and experience in the office.

Recorder D. D. Orewiler, said the work of his office has increased considerably in recent years without increased costs to the taxpayers.

Air Guard To Be Model

Mansfield's $1,000,000 Aid National Guard installation, when completed, "will be looked on as the model set-up for similar installations throughout the country," Capt. William O. Ash, commanding officer of the 164th fighter squadron, Air National Guard, told members of the Exchange club at a luncheon meeting yesterday.

The meeting was held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Capt. Ash said the mission of the unit was two-fold: to provide a defense unit against attack, and to train personnel to maintain the unit.

Commenting on the activated recruiting program, which must be brought up to full strength with the construction of the federal installation, Capt. Ash urged that Mansfielders "sell the idea of the training program of the unit" to its youth.

All youths, between the ages of 17 and 18½ years, may enlist in the unit and remain draft-exempt. For the younger returned veterans, Capt. Ash advocated enlistment in the squadron to "preserve the training received while in service."

Offers Low Highway Bid

A Norwalk contractor today submitted the lowest bid offering to grade, drain and pave the 3.7 miles of State Highway 13 around the Mansfield Municipal airport.

A. J. Baltes, Inc., of Norwalk bid $487,000 to do the paving job in Madison and Franklin townships. The state had estimated it would cost $559,000 to pave the road with asphaltic concrete on waterbound macadam.

The bill for the job will be paid in the following manner. Richland County and the city of Mansfield have contributed $25,000 apiece. The federal government will pay half the cost and the state pay the rest.

The project has been pending since 1944 when the old State Route 13 was abandoned after the city began construction of the airport.

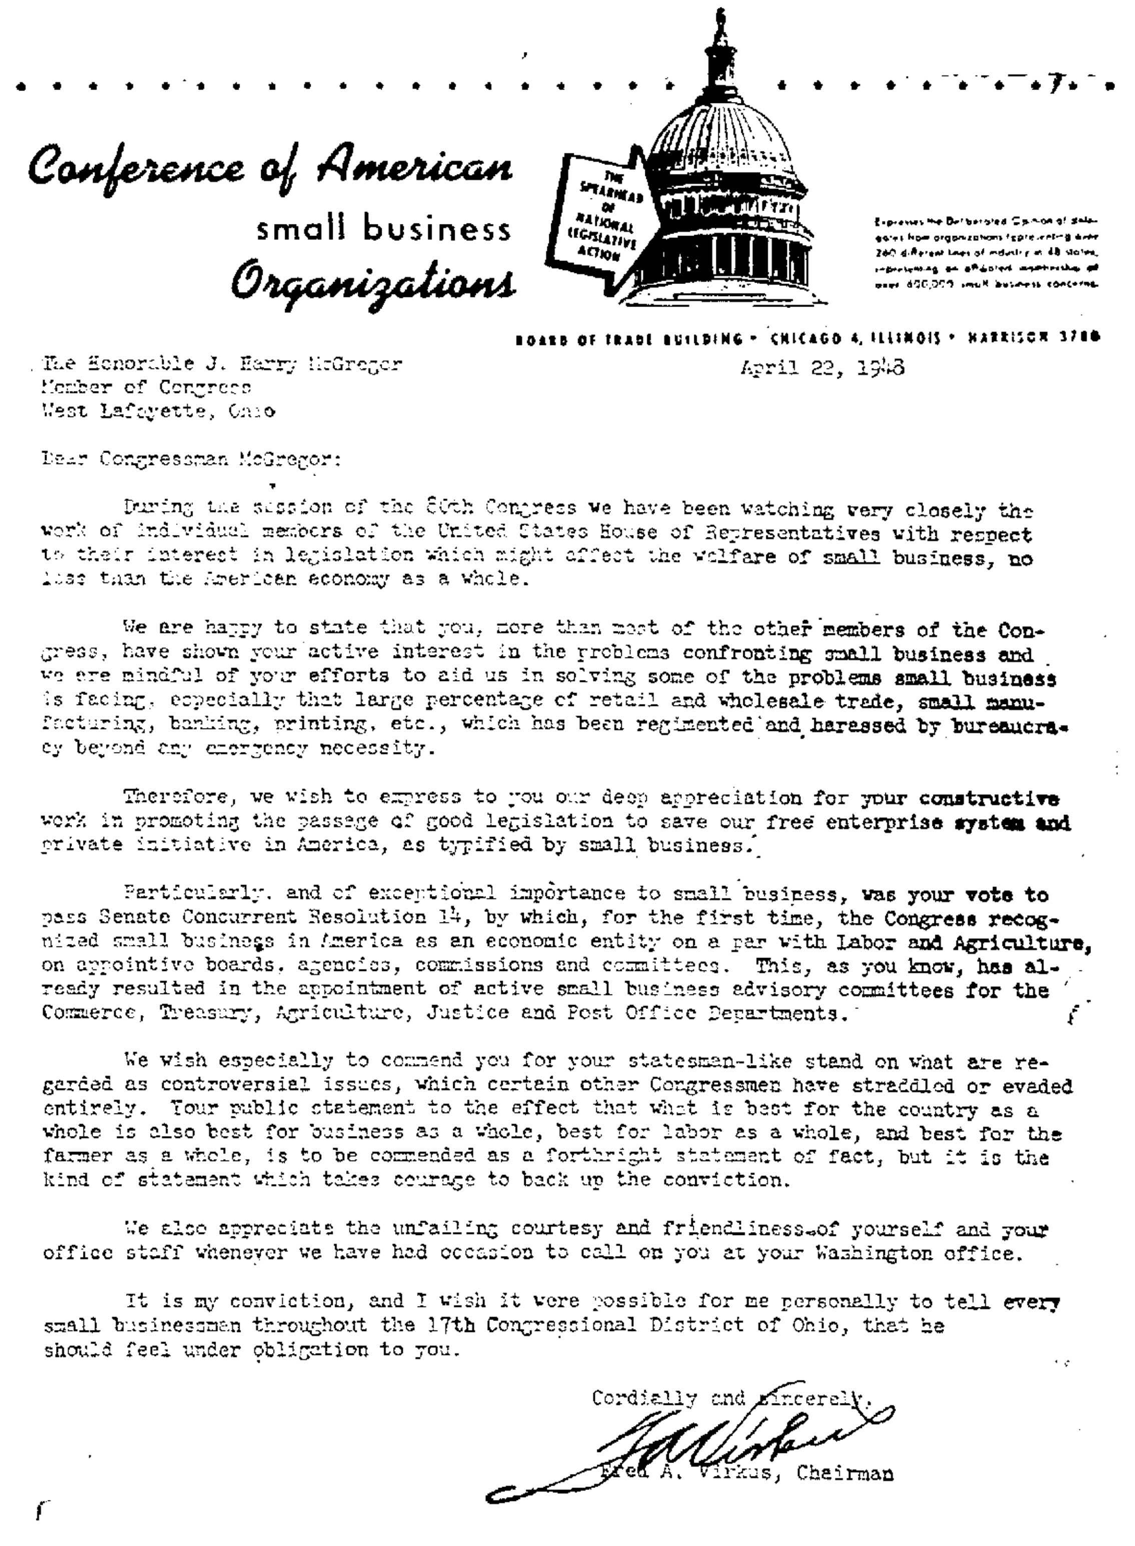
WHAT OTHER PEOPLE THINK



Conference of American small business Organizations

THE SPEARHEAD OF NATIONAL LEGISLATIVE ACTION

Expresses the Deliberated Opinion of delegates from organizations representing over 260 different lines of industry in 48 states, representing an affiliated membership of over 600,000 small business concerns.

BOARD OF TRADE BUILDING • CHICAGO 4, ILLINOIS • HARRISON 3786

April 22, 1948

The Honorable J. Harry McGregor
Member of Congress
West Lafayette, Ohio

Dear Congressman McGregor:

During the session of the 80th Congress we have been watching very closely the work of individual members of the United States House of Representatives with respect to their interest in legislation which might affect the welfare of small business, no less than the American economy as a whole.

We are happy to state that you, more than most of the other members of the Congress, have shown your active interest in the problems confronting small business and we are mindful of your efforts to aid us in solving some of the problems small business is facing, especially that large percentage of retail and wholesale trade, small manufacturing, banking, printing, etc., which has been regimented and harassed by bureaucracy beyond any emergency necessity.

Therefore, we wish to express to you our deep appreciation for your constructive work in promoting the passage of good legislation to save our free enterprise system and private initiative in America, as typified by small business.

Particularly, and of exceptional importance to small business, was your vote to pass Senate Concurrent Resolution 14, by which, for the first time, the Congress recognized small business in America as an economic entity on a par with Labor and Agriculture, on appointive boards, agencies, commissions and committees. This, as you know, has already resulted in the appointment of active small business advisory committees for the Commerce, Treasury, Agriculture, Justice and Post Office Departments.

We wish especially to commend you for your statesman-like stand on what are regarded as controversial issues, which certain other Congressmen have straddled or evaded entirely. Your public statement to the effect that what is best for the country as a whole is also best for business as a whole, best for labor as a whole, and best for the farmer as a whole, is to be commended as a forthright statement of fact, but it is the kind of statement which takes courage to back up the conviction.

We also appreciate the unfailing courtesy and friendliness of yourself and your office staff whenever we have had occasion to call on you at your Washington office.

It is my conviction, and I wish it were possible for me personally to tell every small businessman throughout the 17th Congressional District of Ohio, that he should feel under obligation to you.

Cordially and sincerely,

F A Virkus

School Bond Issue Vitally Important

INSOFAR as its effect on the future of Mansfield is concerned, no decision to be made at next Tuesday's election assumes the tremendous importance of the proposal to issue additional bonds to carry through the program of improvement of this city's public school facilities.

Voters are being asked to sanction a bond issue of $2,250,000 to provide funds needed to bring Mansfield's schools up to the point of adequately meeting immediate needs, with reasonable anticipation of later requirements, based on growing population and increasing birth rate.

Despite earnest efforts, the bond issue authorized in 1945 failed to meet requirements of original plans which called for construction of six new school buildings and the remodeling of four others, and the unfinished program awaits provision of more money, which can be supplied by approval of the bond issue at the coming election.

There can be no doubt as to the urgency of carrying through expansion and modernization of Mansfield's public school system as quickly as possible, nor of the ability of this thriving community to furnish the funds needed to provide adequately for the education of all children who are entitled to the benefits of good schooling.

Residents of Mansfield and this entire school district have heretofore evidenced willingness to give necessary financial support to public school needs and it is confidently anticipated that next Tuesday's response will be such as to assure the further forward steps already planned, but being delayed by lack of funds.

'Folks Back Home' Approve McGregor

GROWING appreciation of the excellent service being performed by J. Harry McGregor as congressman from the Seventeenth Ohio district, of which Richland county is a part, is evidenced by the regularly increased majority by which Mr. McGregor has been elected to that important position.

When first elected as congressman in 1940 McGregor received 56 per cent of the votes cast; in 1942 his percentage rose to 62; then to 64 per cent in 1944 and to 66 per cent in 1946.

This can be accounted for not only by Mr. McGregor's sound stand on domestic and international issues, as evidenced by his voting record, but also by the close contact he has kept with the thinking of people in his own district, by means of conferences held in the county seat of each of the six counties of this district—Richland, Ashland, Knox, Delaware, Licking and Coshocton.

Congressman McGregor's attitude at all times is expressed in his invitation to his constituents to call upon him at these conferences, express their views and inform him of any way in which he can be of service to them. As he puts it: "I am always anxious to learn what the folks back home are thinking about."

While giving attention to national and international problems Congressman McGregor has always shown himself to be keenly conscious of matters having to do with his own district, and has been prompt in his attention to any inquiries or requests for service from the people he represents.

A congressman who has qualifications to serve in that high office gains knowledge by study and experience and it is not uncommon to retain a capable congressman through a long period, rather than make experimental changes.

The Seventeenth Ohio district is fortunate in the representation it is being given in Congress by Mr. McGregor—and it seems that this is so generally recognized as to assure his re-election on November 2.

Trotsky's Prophecy For Communism

LEON TROTSKY, who did as much as anyone to put the communists in control of Russia, had a vision of what would ultimately happen. In 1903 he said, "The organization of the party takes the place of the party itself, the central committee takes the place of the organization, and finally the dictator takes the place of the central committee."

There is this to be said for such a system from the point of view of its opponents: If everything really depends on the will of one man, then when that one man loses his hold the system may totter. But seldom is one man so important. What looks like a dictatorship is likely to be an oligarchy.

Oldest Football Series On Record

THE OLDEST continuous series in college football has been probably the most one-sided. Princeton defeated Rutgers in 1869, in the first of their generally annual meetings, before a few hundred spectators. Forty thousand saw Rutgers beat Princeton this year, gaining thereby only its fourth victory out of the 41 games played.

As Rutgers beat Princeton last year and thus has gained two straight victories, enthusiastic graduates are perhaps now looking toward the time when Rutgers will have won as many contests as Princeton. This will take some waiting, but football enthusiasts will not be deterred by a little thing like that.

One of the strongest elements in the popularity of intercollegiate football is the traditional rivalry in such long series as that between Rutgers and Princeton.

A checkup at Kings college hospital in London reveals that one out of every hundred patients is suffering from in-law troubles—but it may be assumed that all such are not yet hospitalized.

It is now disclosed that the government is unloading tons of surplus salted peanuts—but this is not expected to bring a price drop in other nuts, which are now in the luxury class.

Claude Callan cautions: "The down payment on trouble may not be so much, but you have to pay instalments for a long, long time."

An observer of the meat business concludes that while the product will be cheaper prices won't be any lower.

The Nation Today

Two or More Required

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — A couple of men, or a dozen or a hundred, can tell the boss they don't like the way he runs his business.

And he can't fire them for it.

But—it's all right only so long as two or more do that. If one man by himself tries it, the boss can—if he wants to—bounce him in the spot, why?

The reason was made pretty clear this week in a case that went up to the Supreme Court.

Since what happened in that case applies to most bosses and workers, this is an explanation:

Ten salesmen in the Chicago branch office of the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance company got sore.

The cashier was leaving, the fourth cashier in a couple of years to leave.

And the cashier was important to them, they felt, in helping with their accounts. So each time a new cashier was hired it slowed them down.

They agreed to tell the boss in a letter how they felt, with two of them writing it and all 10 signing it.

The boss found out about the upcoming letter and fired the two men who were going to write it.

The salesmen were not members of a union. They were just 10 employes who wanted to tell the boss what they thought.

But in a case like that, since they were not union members, what could the two fired men do.

They went to the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) — the government agency which carries out the Wagner and Taft-Hartley national labor laws and interprets them when some question of meaning arises.

The NLRB decided the boss had no right to fire the men, that under the law he had engaged in an unfair labor practice. Why?

Because the law says "employes shall have the right to engage in concerted activities for the purpose of . . . mutual aid or protection."

And the law says any boss who intereferes with that right of employes under the law commits an unfair labor practice.

So the NLRB ordered the boss to give the men their jobs back and pay them for any earnings lost while they were out of a job.

The insurance company refused. And the NLRB went to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals to make the company obey. The court upheld the NLRB. Then the case went to the highest and last appeal: to the U. S. Supreme Court.

On Monday the Supreme Court said it would not review the case. Which means: the verdict of the NLRB and Circuit Court stands. The men have to be rehired:

But note something: The key phrase in the law covering such a case is "concerted activities," which means action by two or more employes.

So if two or more employes complain to the boss about the overhead lights or anything else, he can't fire them.

But since one employe by himself can't take "concerted" action, if one employe makes a complaint or suggestion to the boss, the boss can fire him.

The NLRB has ruled the same way in other cases like the one explained here and has been upheld by Circuit courts but this is the first case to reach the Supreme Court.

Since the Supreme Court didn't either approve or disapprove the NLRB and court opinion in this case, the opinion stands.

This law is a national law and applies only to firms whose products or business cross state lines. But that means most businesses.

It would not cover employers or employes in, say, a purely local candy store or some shop or office whose business is done entirely within one state.

Washington Calling

'If' Stage of Campaign

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WITH SOME objective evidence to support their claim, Democratic strategists believe that a trend has set in away from Candidate Dewey and in the direction of Candidate Truman. If the campaign could go on until Thanksgiving, the realists quickly add, the President would have a chance.

Quite apart from public boasts made for political reasons, these same realists are confident that the Democrats will capture control of the Senate. They list Democrats in Wyoming, Oklahoma, Minnesota and West Virginia as sure to defeat Republican incumbents, with Iowa as a strong possibility for a similar upset.

If the four victories come through, and no Democratic seats are lost, the Democrats would control by a majority of 49 to 47. Several Democratic senators are in close contests.

A Dewey landslide in popular votes looks a lot less likely than it did a month ago. On the other hand, the Republican majority in the electoral college still promises to be top-heavy.

Democratic advisers can cite some fairly substantial reasons for the change in trend that they see. One is the deep impression that President Truman appears to have made in the course of his recent swing through the midwest on the large crowds that came out to hear him. The force of the Truman attack on the Republican Congress and the Republican party seems to be getting through.

Along with this goes a natural human sympathy for a fighter who is struggling so hard to come up from the bottom. Truman, in the popular imagination, is assuming the role of David, hurling his stone at the Republican giant of wealth, power and efficiency.

* *

Few Are Helping.

THE PRESIDENT is making his fight almost alone. Virtually the only cabinet officer giving him any effective support is Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin who was appointed after the Democratic convention at Philadelphia.

Tobin is speaking around the country up to the limit of his endurance and there are far more demands that he can fill. Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan has filled a few engagements.

That is just about the score. Some of the men who have been most eager to take the presidential ride, rising out of dimmest obscurity thanks to their good friend, Harry, are sitting this one out.

Among the little handful of men loyally working for Truman's election there is ironic laughter over Secretary of Interior Julius Krug. Krug is supposedly campaigning for Truman in the west where issues under his province, such as water power and conservation, are to the fore. But thus far it is a secret campaign, since no word of it seems to have leaked out to the press.

In contrast, a former secretary of interior, Harold L. Ickes, after breaking violently with the President, is now like a retired fire horse who hears that old alarm bell.

He is ready to charge off in all directions in Truman's behalf and he has begun in the Old Curmudgeon fashion to toss off epithets and acid adjectives.

This is the home stretch. In the lexicon of the professional politician nothing said or done short of some really sizable blunder can affect the outcome.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Some Congressmen Should Be Defeated

By DREW PEARSON

EN ROUTE Through Midwest —Too many voters have the idea that once they pick a president every four years their voting job as American citizens is over. They don't seem to realize that no president, no matter what the party, can get put across a program without an intelligent Congress.

If Congress is made up of party hacks and hangers-on, chiefly interested in patronage and nepotism, almost any administration will bog down. With a view to sorting out the congressional wheat from the chaff, therefore, here is the Washington Merry-Go-Round scorecard of Congress.

First, no attempt is made to evaluate southern Democrats, since their real election comes in the primaries. These are the congressmen who don't deserve to be re-elected. Those who merit re-election will follow in a subsequent column.

Scanning the List.

Charles K. Fletcher, San Diego, Cal., Republican—Tool of the real estate lobby, has been under federal investigation for loaning money from his own building-and-loan association to build a hotel on land sold a contractor by the congressman's father. Next to Rep. Jesse Wolcott of Michigan, Fletcher was the lobby's chief inside executioner of public housing.

Robert F. Rockwell, Colorado, Republican — Though one of the wealthiest men in the state, he has put a local political leader, Crissa B. Pond, on the government payroll at $292.93 a month supposedly as a member of Rockwell's office staff. However, Pond, never in Washington, travels with Rockwell during his campaign. Rockwell has voted consistently against all progressive measures.

Edwin A. Hall, Binghampton, N. Y., Republican—Has four members of his family on the payroll, from his father down to his 16-year-old son who is a "folder" in the House document room, and his 19-year-old daughter who has been a student at Maryland University. Voting record—reactionary.

Leo Isacson, New York, Laborite — Never amounted to much more than a weak echo of Sen. Glen Taylor and Rep. Vito Marcantonio. Republicans and Democrats are joining forces to oust him from his short-term seat. Disarming manner, dogged will.

Howard Buffett, Nebraska, Republican—A jack-of-all issues, a run-at-the-mouth politician and bedrock reactionary. Once he even upbraided Sen. Arthur Vandenberg for his liberal views and "token democracy." Goes off half-cocked on any and all questions. Nervous, abrupt, honest.

Wat Arnold, Missouri, Republican — Taber-minded isolationist who can't see beyond his own corn patch. Bulky, earthy, placid, likable. Rarely opens his mouth in Congress but keeps the voters in line by writing lengthy newsletters to constituents in which he preaches thrift, and homey, over-the-back-fence philosophy.

Harold Youngblood, Michigan, Republican. A wishy-washy conservative. Deserted his city constituents by opposing rent control.

* * *

To the West.

John Sanborn, Idaho Republican—Never opened his mouth in the House except to cast his vote with the hard-shelled isolationists who oppose Dewey-Vandenberg policies. So inconspicuous alongside his colleagues that he was almost anonymous, but used his free-mailing privileges to spread propaganda for silver lobbiest John McBride.

Frank Barrett, Wyoming, Republican—Darling of the big cattlemen even though he, himself, happens to be a sheepman. Fought against Jackson Hole national monument because it removed some grazing land from the cattlemen in favor of scenic beauty.

Wint Smith, Kansas, Republican—Has been as poor a congressman as he was an attorney for the Kansas highway commission.

Bert Gearhart, California, Republican—Has a consistent record in favor of the California wine interests, for isolation, and he reached a new high in statesmanship when he introduced a bill barring newsboys from Social Security benefits.

* * *

Toward the East.

Horace Seely-Brown, Connecticut, Republican — A pushbutton party liner. Party leaders merely push the buzzer and Seely-Brown votes as they tell him. Was one of five House members who voted against higher education allowances for war vets.

P. W. Griffiths, Ohio, Republican — A do-nothing congressman, who once admitted to newsmen that in four years he had never delivered a single speech.

Fred Smith, Ohio, Republican —A horse doctor who left any horse sense at home when he came to Congress.

Raymond Burke, Ohio, Republican — Travels at rocking-chair speed in an atomic age. Lets the GOP bosses do his thinking. Studious, old, kindly, his only accomplishment was a bill setting up federal game preserves.

Assignment: America

When Scientists Revolt

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — Doctor Hermann J. Muller is a balding, bespectacled biologist who is a pretty respected citizen in world scientific circles, being able to sport the Nobel prize among other past recognitions of his accomplishments.

Currently, however, Dr. Muller is (he would flinch at the phraseology) slightly burned up at the Soviet scientists.

He has just given them the back of his hand, in a manner which might not mean much to dopes like you and me, but which represents a big-time gesture among the boys who know what gives with everything from bugs to atoms.

He has just announced his resignation from what is now known as the Soviet Academy of Sciences—and before you go out half-cocked in sarcastic reply, just bear in mind that long before the commies ever came along in those parts, the old academy was considered one of the greatest scientific societies of the world.

Away back in the imperial regime, it was Russia's supreme scientific body, and its world recognition was so great that many an American scientist would have given a sizeable chunk of his left ear to have had a bid from it.

All of which makes the reason for Dr. Muller's resignation a bit on the saddening side, because if he knows whereof he speaks—and there seems little cause to doubt it—then what's happening to Soviet science today is a story we've all heard before, and within this generation. Only last time, it was the swastika, rather than the hammer-and-sickle, that seemed to shroud the science labs.

Seems like the world's been down that road before—too recently.

With Dr Muller, it's particularly a bitter thing. If you talk to him, you realize that he is—or at least was—an idealist of the old scientific school, which always thought vaguely but strongly in terms of humanity as a whole.

Politics, national or international, left them cold, for they looked only to the betterment of the human being through scientific progress.

* * *

Gained Early Recognition.

THUS, back in the days when the young biologist at the University of Texas discovered that certain hereditary characteristics of the fruit fly could be altered by x-radiation. The recognition he received was not a state or national thing.

It was the world-wide acclaim of scientists. And while he would have expected nothing, had he failed, he did not expect less since he succeeded—for science, to him, was not a thing concerned with boundaries or politics.

In the intervening years, much has been done with Dr. Muller's discovery. Long strides have been taken, particularly in plant life, in eliminating certain hereditary evils and re-designing the pattern of the species.

Some progress has been made with animals, and the vast possibilities of the quarter-century-old discovery still stagger the imagination—when thinking in terms of humans.

Anyhow, Dr. Muller went to Russia, did some work there, didn't like the layout too much and returned home. But in the time between his Texas university days and his professorship at the University of Indiana, he did some pretty spectacular work, earning a Nobel prize and a prized membership in the Soviet Academy of Sciences.

Why then, has he thrown that membership back in their teeth?

He admits, from the outset, that he regretted having to take such action, because of the deep world-wide esteem in which the Russian organization was held in the past.

But then he cites the dropping from membership ("purging" is a horrid word) of certain leading scientists whose theories of genetics seemed to disagree with the Kramlin's conclusions on euch subjects. Also, he speaks angrily of the acceptance of certain "charlatan" pseudo-scientists into the organization's higher councils—presumably because such men carried the communist leadership's support.

Dr. Muller is doubly hurt that these developments within the once-respected academy took place in the field of genetics—first, because that is his chief type of research and he hates to see it cheapened, and second: because, well—

"These disgraceful actions," he says, "show clearly that the leaders of the Academy are no longer conducting themselves as scientists, but are misusing their positions to destroy science for narrow political purposes, even as did those who posed as scientists in Germany under the domination of the nazis . . ."

What comes next—another race of supermen, already?

Farmer's Diary

The Magic of Autumn

By CALVIN A. BYERS

I WALKED in the woods on a morning after black frost had come. Leaves dropped all around as the early sun rays hit them. Some were crisp, so crisp that they broke as they landed and the fragments seemed alive. The gray sky of cool morning met the sun's rays with blue haze and gold. The hour was filled with sacred moments when the great heart of the forest beat in rhythm.

The sable crow looked down from his distant perch, viewed in silence the joy of the greening hills and seemed content. Red dogwood seeds reflected red fingerpoints of borrowed light.

A groundhog peeped from his burrow beneath a root, to gaze on the morning sun with dark squinting eyes. He rose high on his haunches and with lordly pose surveyed his familiar premises as feeding grounds. His neighbor the chipmunk frisked a bushy tail and leaped atop a fresh-cut stump.

There, to my surprise, I saw him hold in his forepaws a crisp new chestnut which he gnawed until the hard parings dropped rapidly onto the leaves. He ate half, then let the portion drop, licked his chops—came down, found the remainder and devoured all but the shell. Chestnuts, he seemed to say, were rare and tasted mighty good. I searched and found upon a sucker branch, four open needly burrs lined with soft-as-velvet.

Autumn comes like a great invasion into our lives and hearts riding quietly upon all the colors of a rainbow. Leaf by leaf it comes. The tired plants of all the earth are going to rest in the bosom of the soil.

The amber of the pleasantly slanting sun seems to search out the purple asters, the yellow streamers of witch hazel, the fringed gentians—soft cool flowers, all, that frost cannot quite destroy.

The bright moon of mid-October comes up round and red at the end of our valley road. All night the mystic light streams over the fruitful fields and the dark woods, and the quiet farmhouses making a scene too beautiful to tell.

"Like a tide on a crescent sea beach
When the moon is new and thin,
Into our hearts high yearnings come welling and surging in,
Come from the mystic ocean
Whose rim no foot has trod . . .
Some of us call it autumn, and others call it God."

Coeds Find Novel Diet

CHICAGO —(INS)— A little hopping insect has set the college world gulping in the first major fad in almost a decade

From coast to coast the grasshopper has supplanted the goldfish gobbling and phonograph record chewing of 1930 in campus notoriety.

The latest form of competition in the field of higher education started at Mercer university in Macon, Ga., when pretty co-ed Ann Miller declared she'd eat a grasshopper for $2.

Her offer was inspired by a psychology professor who said that a man might eat a live grasshopper for $5,000.

An Oklahoma A and M student, Clarence Jones, raised the ante. He demanded $5

The latest report came from Northwestern university when co-ed Hazel Ford of Chicago upped the grasshopper eating price to $7.

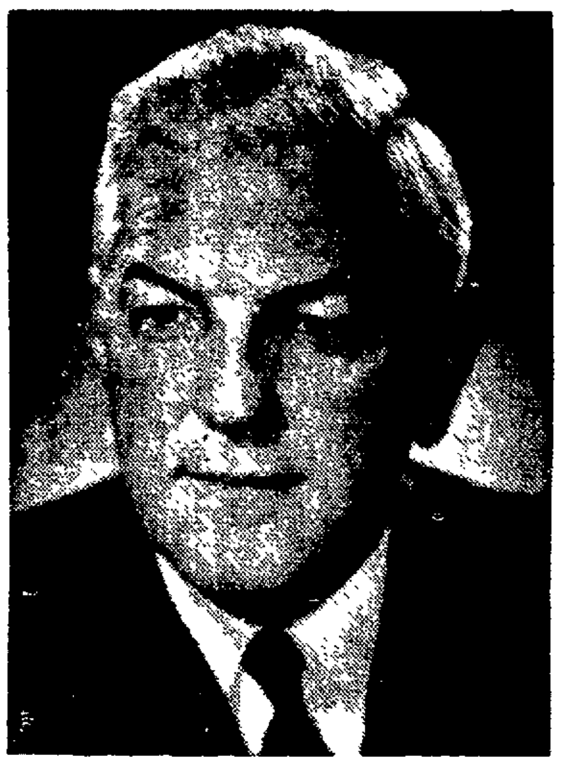
Compare his Record in Office



Governor Thomas J. Herbert

Tom Herbert's opponent in the coming election is the man who preceded him in office. Compare the records of these two candidates and there is little doubt which one you'll vote for. Here is the score.

HERBERT:	HIS OPPONENT:
Reduced Sales Tax and several other taxes Financed Soldiers' Bonus without special tax levy. Increased aid to public schools by $49,000,000 Appropriated $32,000,000 for welfare institutions. Completed or placed under contract $23,000,000 of welfare building construction.	Promised Sales Tax reduction. Failed to recommend same to the legislature Did nothing about the Bonus Vetoed appropriation bills for public schools. Provided $27,000,000 for welfare institutions. Constructed or placed under contract, only $4,000,000 of the appropriation.
Reduced unwieldy state liquor inventory $17,000,000 Put all inspectors under civil service. Revoked 119 fake club permits.	Left behind exorbitant inventory of unsalable brands of liquor. Failed to stop issuance of permits to fake clubs.

Secured enactment of law for regulating strip mines Increased state aid for control of brucellosis and other farm animal diseases. Paid to local divisions of government $208,872,793.	Talked about strip mine regulation Offered no bill on same. Gave agriculture inadequate aid against farm animal diseases. Provided local subdivisions of government only $158,012,476.

Those records tell the story. You will certainly want to re-elect Tom Herbert. Vote also for Republican legislators. They are pledged to the same principles of efficiency, fairness and economy that enabled the Herbert administration to accomplish so much good for Ohio.

Music Study Club To Hold Open Program On 'Musical Therapy'

GIVE Jones two Chopin nocturnes right after dinner. Change Smith from 'March Militaire' to 'Clair de Lune' if he becomes restless. You might start Mrs. Brown on 'Mairzy Doats' and call me if you note any change."

That's the way doctors may be talking if a revolutionary experiment at Walter Reed Army hospital is completed, proving that music can help soothe war-shattered nerves.

Mansfielders will have the opportunity to hear of this musical therapy work on Monday evening, Nov 1 when Mrs Frances Paperte founder of Music Research Foundation addresses Music Study club members and guests at the First Methodist church at 7 45 p m This program is open to the public and a freewill offering will be taken

Until a few years ago physicians remained skeptical of legendary "music cures" dating back to 2500 B C Few denied music's strong emotional appeal or stimulus value, but no one devised a practical way of harnessing music's powerful intangibles

With the impetus from two World Wars this decade has seen widespread effort to shape music into a reliable tool for scientists A significant contribution was made possible when, in April 1944, the surgeon general of the Army authorized Music Research Foundation Inc, to test under medical supervision the effect of music on selected patients at Walter Reed General Hospital For this purpose the hospital created its Department of Applied Music and the experiment was directed by Mrs. Paperte, under the supervision of the hospital medical staff.

According to Mrs Paperte, "Intelligent and discriminating use of the music with the ill can pay off immediate dividends in human values"

Exercises set to music of vigorous rhythm may help crippled children learn to walk more quickly Music with a strong associative meaning may throw a beam of reality into the beclouded minds of mental patients Music may be able to stimulate the depressed, soothe the overexcited, help in the adjustment of maladjusted personalities

Special music has been planned for next Monday's meeting Miss Mabel Zehner and Miss Louise Krause will favor with piano and organ numbers and there will be a voice en semble under the direction of Miss Florence MacDonald Miss Elizabeth Burneson will be the accompanist Organ solos will be played by Miss Zehner

Mid-way through this quick coffee cake is a filling of juicy cherries to lend appetite appeal to a good breakfast.

For a hot bread that features so much good eating, this cherry-filled coffee cake is exceptionally easy to make. Into the baking pan goes a crunchy layer of streusel, then a coffee cake batter, then sweetened cherries, finally more batter. This layered cake bakes in 25 minutes. Then it puts in an appearance at the breakfast table to give that meal style and sparkle.

Uses for such a coffee cake need not be limited to breakfast. Because it contains enriched flour, it is rich in B-vitamins, food energy and iron. With this splendid nutritional value, it is a mid-afternoon treat for callers, a supper dessert, a brunch special. Enriched flour products are good menu-balancers, since all their food values add up on the credit side of the meal. This coffee cake is high in the list of such products.

CHERRY FILLED COFFEE CAKE

Topping

¼ cup sugar
¼ cup enriched flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup butter or margarine

Mix sugar, flour, and cinnamon. Cut or rub in butter or margarine.

Batter

1½ cups sifted enriched flour
½ cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1 egg
¾ cup milk
3 tablespoons melted shortening
1 No. 2 can cherries (1½ cups drained)

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt. Beat egg. Add milk and melted shortening. Add to flour and mixture, stirring until mixture is smooth. Spread half the batter into greased pan, eight by eight inches. Cover with cherries. Sprinkle half the topping over cherries. Cover with remaining batter, and finally with remaining topping. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) 25 minutes. Yield: 1 coffee cake, eight by eight inches.

Sauces That Spice Fish

By ALICE DENHOFF

MANY of us who have often declared that we would rather starve than eat fish, have learned to eat fish as well as our words.

Baked fish steaks with a piquant herb dressing is a fine fare. To serve 4, buy 2 to 3 lbs. fish steaks (fresh or frozen)—cod, halibut, swordfish, salmon, etc. Spread with softened margarine or salad oil. Sprinkle with garlic salt and a dash of cayenne. Arrange on well-greased baking platter or pan. Add ¼ tsp. each rosemary, thyme and marjoram, ½ tsp. salt, tbsp each minced onion and minced parsley to ½ c. while wheat bread crumbs. Toss together as 4 tbsp. melted margarine is added, then mix finally with one egg.

FINISHING THE DISH

Spread this dressing over the top of fish steaks. Bake at 325-350 degrees F. for 30 min. Garnish with watercress or parsley, and serve with lemon slices.

Every supply shelf should have a few packages of dried codfish, not only for breakfast, but as an excellent emergency dinner dish. To dress it up, flavor the cream sauce with a pinch of dry mustard or a dash of red pepper or cayenne.

Or to each c. of cream sauce for creamed codfish try adding ¼ tsp. poultry seasoning.

For Wednesday, October 27

Owing to conflicting aspects of major planets there may be obstacles or frustrations, but these could be successfully manipulated by shrewd, careful and determined efforts of a sustained and systematic nature. Superiors could be impressed by these honest attempts and constructive ability. Ingenuity and exceptional skill might attract aid from unexpected sources, with enhanced prestige, expansion and merit promising recognition, perhaps honors and promotion.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a difficult or blocked situation in which their own shrewd grasp of frustration may be turned to excellent account. Shrewd and clever tactics with persistent and diligent efforts could win over the opposition and make way for hearty cooperation, tangible rewards for merit and perhaps promotion. Increased popularity and prestige, with expanding opportunity, could find happy reactions on the personal and domestic life.

A child born on this day should possess many talents and exceptional abilities.

Claims Dems Should Give GOP Senate

Organizing Power Rests With Few

A handful of Democratic senators—not necessarily more than three or four—have an unusual opportunity. They have only to let it be known before election that if Governor Dewey is elected and if the Republicans carry the House but lose the Senate by a narrow margin, they will permit the Republicans to organize the Senate.

There is certainly no law, and there is no moral principles, which compels the Democratic Senators to make a hash of things just because they have a nominal majority. It is not their duty to organize the Senate. It is merely their right. They need not exercise that right if it is not in the public interest that they should.

It will most obviously make a hash of things to have divided responsibility in the new administration. The unseating of Senator Vandenberg as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee would be a very serious setback in foreign policy. For while Senator Connally's heart would no doubt be in the right place, he could not hope to play the unique role which Senator Vandenberg has made for himself.

And even if Senator Connally could eventually acquire the knowledge, the parliamentary skill, and the personal authority, it would take six months to find out whether he could or couldn't. That would be most disturbing and unsettling. In the critical months immediately ahead, confidence here and abroad, and the prestige of the government, would be gravely impaired.

What possible reason have Democratic Senators like Fulbright of Arkansas, Kilgore of West Virginia, Lucas of Illinois or Wagner of New York, to insist on organizing the Senate under conditions where they will have the responsibility for obstruction and confusion but will have no real power to do anything effective?

As Democrats they have every reason to help Kefauver, win over Reece, Anderson over Hurley, Neely over Revercomb, Douglas over Brooks. They can help them a great deal, some of them perhaps decisively, by making it known to the independent voters and the liberal Republicans that there is no need to vote for reactionaries and isolationists in order to avert the confusion of a divided government.

An open declaration made by a handful of Democrats before the election is a far better and surer way to settle the issue than to leave it open until January, and then to have to connive at finagling ourselves out of the mess by taking advantage of Senator Wagner's illness and by challenging the election results in states like Oklahoma and Texas.

Big Demand Faces Steel Producers

Record Output Falling Short

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Despite production at record peace-time rates, the steel industry is falling far short of meeting the demand for its products, said the magazine Steel today.

The trade publication estimated ingot production at 98.5 per cent of rated capacity last week, up one-half point.

This, said Steel, was "equivalent to production of about 1,786,300 net tons of ingots and steel for castings," and compares with "average weekly output of 1,281,210 tons in 1940, the best pre-war production year."

Some producers are making increases in their price schedules, it reported, but "nothing has yet developed" to indicate further general increases. "Still, consumers are apprehensive another increase will be forthcoming,'" it added.

Steel production is falling "far short of requirements," and while "certain consumer durable goods lines" show a better balance between supply and demand, "steel requirements in other directions are overwhelming," Steel said. "Demands of the oil and gas industry, for instance, are described as fantastic."

'Yafkas' Aid Guerrillas

ATHENS —(AP)— Have you ever heard of "Yafka?"

"Yafka" is a well-known word to international Communists. It is Russian for liaison, dispatch, instruction and signal center.

The Greek general staff says the five-letter word spells "Communist agency getting aid to General Markos Vafiadis' guerrillas."

Military intelligence officers say there are hundreds of Yafkas scattered through Greece. Many are reporting functioning even in Athens. Most of them, however, are located along Greece's 500-mile frontier.

The Greeks say it is through these Yafkas that Markos' men get arms, ammunition, food and clothing from Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria. Three times in the last 15 months, Balkan committees of the United Nations reported evidence these nations were aiding Markos.

The general staff claims the Yafkas collaborate with the auxiliary services, which are liaisons between the Greek Communists of the Yafkas and Albanian, Yugoslav and Bulgarian authorities.

Girl Scout Troop Learning Horsemanship

By EILEEN DEWHURST

Thirty Mansfield senior Girl Scouts recently learned that they have the distinction of belonging to one of the few mounted troops in the country. When the Mansfield troop was registered with national headquarters this fall, the group was told that they are the only troop organized to learn horsemanship in this section of the United States. Three other mounted troops have been registered in California, the only others in the country.

The Mansfield troop is really two troops of 15 girls each, but they hold their meetings together.

Mrs. J. Frederick Castor, one of the leaders of the troop, said that the mounted troop was started because of a demand on the part of the girls, not the leaders. "The girls kept after us until about a year ago we started the troop with eight members," she said.

All of the original members had been Girl Scouts for five years or more. When they joined the new troops, they were relieved from their former troops.

Mrs. Castor was the first leader. Miss Marjorie Hoover assisted her. Last spring Mrs. Robert Small became the second leader.

During the summer the girls rode once a week. They did most of their riding at the Walnut Nook riding stables in Bellville.

"We were really pioneering when we started," Mrs. Castor said, "but more and more girls became interested as time went on."

Now thirty girls are members of the "experimental" troop.

Roscoe McGinty, owner of riding stables on Home road, is consultant for the troop and gives the girls group instructions.

The aim of the troop, according to Mrs. Castor, is to give more girls the opportunity of enjoying the sport of horsemanship while they are enjoying Girl Scout work.

All of the girls in the troop are senior scouts between the ages of 14 and 18.

TROOP SUPPORTS SELF

The troop is self-supporting. It earns all the money for riding and lessons. To earn money, members of the troop do handicraft work, making horseshoe plaques, leather coin purses, and other objects for sale. They have also held rummage sales to raise money for troop activities.

Members of the troop must pass the Red Cross first aid course and must either have their horsewoman's badge when they join or be able to pass the tests for the badge within the first year after joining. To earn the horsewoman's badge a girl must be able to post, canter, and trot.

The girls must take part in troop activities, make up all work they miss, and help earn money for the troop. No member is allowed to ride until she has attended six meetings.

During the winter the troop will meet to learn more about horses and the proper clothing to wear while riding. The purpose of the winter meetings will be to generally prepare the girls for riding when the weather permits in the spring.

Since the national organization permits only a limited number of girls per leader in mounted troops, the troop will be open to new members as soon as it gets more leaders. Girls who wish to join must be of senior Scout age, 14 to 18 years old, and must meet all troop requirments.

GIVE HORSE SHOW

On Saturday the troop wound up its first year of activities with an all-day horse ride and horse show at McGinty's riding stables. The six original members who are still in the troop led by Caroline McGinty, went on a morning trail ride to Clear Fork project.

At noon new members of the troop prepared a campfire dinner for the group.

In the afternoon the 24 new members were initiated into the troop with a ring practice and drill climaxed with a grand march on horseback. The girls ride both English and western mounts.

McGintoy sponsored the all-day ride and was in charge of the ring show.

Guests Saturday included Mrs. Howard Wenning, publicity chairman of the Mansfield Council of Girl Scouts; Miss Margaret Rooney, executive director of Girl Scouts; Mrs. Joy Herbert, commissioner of the council; and Barbara Bauer, one of the original members who is now an honorary member of the troop.

Original members who still belong to the troop include Evelyn Hughes, president; Martha Bell, vice president; Joann Hawkins, treasurer; Pat Lehman, secretary; Sally Richards, publicity chairman; and Katherine Beatty, telephone chairman.

New members who were initiated Saturday are Pat Moore, Margaret Reese, Jean Hathaway, Betsy Clark, Marilyn Schuler, Carol Bullock, Mary Elizabeth McConnell, Marilou Lorentz, Carol Sylvis, Alice Eberhart, Joan Cochran, Joann Stranski, Marilyn Hoover, Shurlene Scheurer, Patricia Pence, Linda Couchman, Carol Merrell, Margaret Rust, Carol Sue Hoffman, Pat Tesch, Marylyn Peppard, Charlotte Guiner, Susan Benzing and Jean Culler.

Charges Electronics Head Forced U. S. to Foot Propagandist Bills

NEW YORK—Samuel Novick, born in Vitebsk, Russia, in 1897, arrived in the United States in 1914, age 17, with that nice timing which permitted other immigrants about the same age, from the same land, to escape service under the Czar against the Kaiser. He was naturalized in 1926. In 1943, after the United States entered the crusade against the genocide monster, Adolf Hitler, he began manufacturing "confidential and secret" radar and other electronic equipment for the air forces.

He turned out "roughly" $6,000,000 worth in less than three years, and much of his profit went to Communist fronts. He went to public school in benighted Russia under the Czar and to night school here. He worked first in a grocery store and next in garment factories. Then he was a radio telegrapher. After that he became a business man, so glib and deft in American corporate subtleties that the identities of the Electronic Corporation of America, of which he is president and his wife is secretary, and several other companies cannot be told apart.

Like the screwd Sam Carp, of Bridgeport, Conn., Molotov's brother-in-law, who was cunning enough to trim the buttons off the tough Yankee traders of Connecticut in many a hard business deal by posing as a greenhorn, Novick has a trick of appearing to be confused by details. Like Carp he is careless about time and figures. He never tells a lie under oath. He just makes mistakes. He can't remember.

Carp was so naive that he couldn't quite recall whether it was $200 million or $300 million that Molotov entrusted to him to spend for war material in the United States, or whether his commission was to be two per cent or three. Novick didn't even suspect that the New Masses and other notorious concerns to which he gave tax-deductible contributions out of his war profits on American contracts were Communistic fronts. He couldn't remember how much he gave. And he couldn't remember writing false information to the bureau of immigration indorsing one Arthur Adams, a principal Russian spy, for entry into the United States, or even whether he had known Adams ten years or 20 years.

I hope it will not be in bad taste to say that these dispatches exposed Novick in the fall of 1944 in connection with the denunciation of the Communist-propagandist and journeyman larcenist, who goes by the name of William S. Gailmor. This is the same Gailmor, now come safe through the war as an exempt lecturer haranguing loyal American boys on their duty to "democracy," who has been campaigning for Henry Wallace as the Kremlin's candidate for president.

Novick paid Gailmor $7,388 to broadcast his pro-Soviet propaganda in 1945. Novick tried to charge all his radio time for both Gailmor and Johannes Steel, a refugee from Hitler, but the war department disallowed a total of more than $100,000 for two years. This included printed advertisements of the programs and the cost of the radio time.

However, Novick's companies probably were allowed to shift the burden of this political infection to the loyal American taxpayer. When his corporate income tax returns were made under the treasury rulings this item would be a "legitimate" advertising expense.

Globe-Trotter, Cannibal Sandwiches Lighter Moments Evoke Comment

This happened at Sardi's the other Before-Curtain time. . . . A theatrical agent was boring a group with a resume of his recent European travels. . . . "So I hopped over to England," the pest droned, "then I flew to France, then to Switzerland and from there . ."

"This guy doesn't drop names," groaned Bob Sylvester. He drops countries."

Ann Jeffreys, star of "My Romance," was in a midtown restaurant with Sigmund Romberg, the show's composer.

He ordered a cannibal sandwich, sometimes called tartar steak. When this chopped-up raw meat (with raw egg on top) was served Ann intoned: "Oh, Rommie, how can you eat such a thing? You know darn well if you saw that in an alley—you'd walk around it!"

Along came an old pal, who said: "Max, when we were kids, you were a regular he-man. Why are you standing like a sissy with your hand on your hip?"

"How do you like dot!" exclaimed Max (inspecting his arm). "Some doity-doity swiped my pompanickel!"

When Max Hart, a prosperous booking agent on the Big Time, first discussed Eddie Cantor with F. Ziegfeld, (whose girl-shows have rarely been equalled) Mr. Z. couldn't get excited about Cantor . . . Hart eventually sold him the idea and Cantor wow'd the first-nighters into the aisles.

"I told you," beamed Max, "he couldn't miss with those eyes!"

"I am surprised more than anyone," confessed Flo. "A Follies audience usually doesn't look further than a performer's legs."

When John Barrymore was on lean days in Hollywood his agents arranged a dinner at the home of a producer . . . The unpredictable actor kept them waiting an hour. One agent went to a phone.

"Tell him," yelled another, "we're just finishing cocktails!"

"Finishing, hell!" was the retort. "I'll say we're just starting!"

A retired businessman once came to producer Sam Harris' office and said: "I've been able to save $3,000,000 and I want to invest some of it in a B'way show Can you advise me how to invest it?"

"You have earned and saved three million dollars," gasped Harris, "and you come to ME for advice?"

Helen Hayes, who doesn't think much of the movies (or of having her photo taken), was going through a publicity stunt at a radio station. Lights, cameras and the works . . . Someone asked it thing were "comfy."

"That's like asking," scoffed Helen, "if the straitjacket fits!"

Union P-TA Pushes Bond Issue

Crossing Flasher To Be Installed

Decision to campaign for the proposed $80,000 bond issue at the November election was voted unanimously last night by 120 parents and teachers of the Union Rural high school, when P-TA members met at the school.

An intensive drive will be started immediately to use the remaining few days before election to bring the question before every resident of the district. Large posters will be placed at all road intersections and leaflets will be distributed to every family in the area by school pupils. In addition, parents and voting residents will be contacted personally by heads of the P-TA.

It was decided, also, that transportation to the polls would be provided for all those who wish it.

The bond issue will supplement the $120,000 voted two years ago. It will insure the building of a centralized elementary school to replace the remaining one-room schools and an addition to the present high school.

Members last night, under the direction of Martin Frank, president, discussed installation of a flasher at the Erie railroad on the Olivesburg road near the Mansfield Shale Brick plant.

Charles Bookwalter, chairman of the committee on the flasher project, had written a letter to Gov. Thomas J. Herbert asking that a flasher be installed. In reply Gov. Herbert said that the state highway department was "ready to go" with plans for installation, but that due to a big demand for the materials required, it may be six to eight months before installation can be made.

A letter was received from the state highway department, explaining its plans in detail.

CIRCULATE PETITIONS

Action on the flasher installation was promised as the result of a petition circulated among residents in that area. More than 1,000 signatures were obtained and highway officials made a survey of the situation, finding that 1,100 vehicles passed over the crossing daily and that a flasher should be installed.

Highway officials said the state department would finance 90 per cent of the cost and the Erie railroad 10 per cent, future maintenance would be up to the railroad.

Mrs. H. T. SirLouis, membership chairman, said that the current campaign quota promises to exceed that of last year, when 103 members were enrolled. She also outlined the objectives and aims of the P-TA.

John Humbert, former student at the school, told of plans for an orchestra.

Mrs. Paul Lantz, chairman; Mrs. Thomas Elders, Mrs. Russell Maxwell and Thomas Lasley, principal of the school, comprise the years program committee.

The refreshments committee for the year includes Mrs. Humbert, Mrs. Foster Groff and Mrs. Charles Johnson.

Last night's hostess was Mrs. Ralph Oswalt, assisted by Carl Dill and George Love.

The next meeting the the P-TA will be held on Nov. 29.

Pupils Hold Elections

St. Peter's Students Follow Adult Pattern

When voters go to the polls next Tuesday, students at St Peter's high school will know all about the procedure although they are not old enough to cast ballots.

The students have chosen their officers following a convention patterned after the Democratic and Republican sessions in Philadelphia last summer.

As the result of the senior class election Richard Flood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Flood, 151 West Fourth street, will head the 1949 graduating class. Chosen with him were: Joan Geller, vice president; Barbara Renard, secretary, and John Hornung, treasurer.

Juniors elected Thomas Dorsey, president; Antonia Mollica, vice president; Peggy Malone, secretary, and Kenneth Day, treasurer. Sophomores chose Edward Bozynski, president; Helen Smith, vice president; Betty Schartl, secretary, and Richard Eichinger, treasurer.

A week preceding the election, there was a rush of campaigning among high school students. Candidates made speeches, there were parades and signs pointed up the abilities of candidates.

Purpose of the election was to teach civics in a practical way, teachers said.

Dems Go To Cleveland

A caravan consisting of a bus and a number of automobiles will carry some 60 Richland county Democrats to Cleveland today to hear President Truman make a major address.

Marshall C. Moore, chairman of the county Democratic central committee, said the bus will leave from in front of the courthouse at 4:30 p. m. President Truman speaks in Public Hall at 9 p. m.

Ralph Hardy, chairman of the Republican executive committee, said 37 reservations had been received for the trip to Cleveland tomorrow to hear the GOP candidate, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Hardy said he expected that about 60 persons will go. The buses will leave Republican headquarters on North Walnut street. Persons going should be there at 3.30 p. m, Hardy said.

Democrats will stage two rallies Wednesday, both starting at 8 p. m. Robert W. Levering, candidate for congress, will be the principal speaker at both rallies Local Democratic candidates will appear at both rallies. Attorney Robert Drury of Columbus also will speak.

One of the rallies will be a combined Butler - Lexington village rally at the Lexington Town hall The other will be at the high school in Ontario, for Springfield and Sandusky townships.

Police Rearranging First Floor Offices

The police department is rearranging its offices on the first floor of the city building and right now you practically need a detective to find your way around.

The office moving has been made possible by the opening of the new municipal court room on the third floor of the city building, thus vacating the old municipal court room on the first floor.

The room, at the west end of the building, was first occupied in January, 1928, and has been used for the past 20 years for court sessions and council meetings that attracted large numbers of spectators.

The changes that are now being made are as follows:

1. The identification bureau has been moved into the old court room and George Caton, parking meter collector, has moved into the identification bureau.

2. The detective bureau, formerly located next to the traffic bureau has moved into a room at the rear of the courtroom formerly used by the parking meter collector and Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals' office has been moved into the old detective bureau.

3. Police records, previously scattered between the identification bureau and the traffic bureau will now all be centrally located in the court room being used as the identification bureau.

The traffic bureau, adjacent to Police Chief Jesse J Schwab's office will remain where it is, but will house only traffic division records

The police radio and lieutenants' and captains' room will remain where they are situated at present.

Seek Dead Man's Kin

Mansfield police today sought relatives of a 42-year-old man whose body was recovered from a river in Gary, Ind., with a Chicago-to-Mansfield bus ticket in his pocket.

Gary police authorities informed Mansfield officers that Ralph T. Rush, the drowning victim, was six feet, two inches tall and partly bald.

Chicago police reported that Rush was believed to have a sister in Mansfield.

Mansfield officers said no indication of foul play was reported. Officers here said they have no record of the victim.

Anyone having information on the victim is urged to contact the police. Rush's body is now at the Williams and Burns funeral home in Gary.

Vets Urged to File Reports

The 2,500 veterans in the Mansfield area taking advantage of the on-the-job training program under the GI Bill of Rights were again warned today by G. D. Weidemaier, manager of the Mansfield Veterans Administration here, to send in their monthly reports on time.

Failure to meet the Nov. 10 deadline for the October report will result in suspension of subsistence payments.

In order to prevent payment of subsistence allowances to which veterans may not be entitled, it is necessary for the VA to receive the monthly training reports promptly.

Since direct VA supervision of veterans training under the GI Bill ceased early this year, there has been an increasing number of delinquent reports each month.

Case of Missing Chair Unsolved

An upholstered chair worth $75 disappeared on U. S. Route 30-N, Mrs. T. C. Blizzard reported to the sheriff's office, a short while after it fell out of a small trailer.

She told deputies that she and her husband were en route to Mansfield from Crestline when another driver caught up with them and told them the chair had fallen out of the trailer. They went back to the spot, two miles down the road, but the chair was gone, Mrs. Blizzard said. She told deputies the incident occurred Saturday night.

IT GETS WORSE—

With two of its seven parcel post delivery trucks still out of commission, crowded conditions at the post office were even worse than usual yesterday. Four trucks broke down last week. Two have been repaired and the post office borrowed two others to make already delayed deliveries. Meanwhile, parcel post packages continued to pile up in the inadequate working space of the mailroom. By this morning the entire rear section of the room was filled with incoming parcel post packages. Post office employes were working the packages for delivery as rapidly as possible to make room for three handtrucks of packages which were still on the loading platform because there was no place for them inside.

Job Total Tops War Figures

Unemployment At New Low

The number of persons employed in Mansfield reached an all-time high this month, according to C. W. Handley, manager of the Ohio State Employment Service office here.

The 19,000 persons employed in the 41 industries contacted by the office is a figure larger than the number employed during the wartime employment peak, Handley said

The ratio of job seekers to workers in Mansfield is only one-half the national ratio. Nationally, three out of every 100 workers are seeking jobs at any one time. In Mansfield the ratio is only one and one-half workers out of every 100.

The Mansfield office now has fewer than 100 claimants for unemployment compensation. Included in this number are workers who have reached the age of retirement.

Less than 300 job seekers are now listed at the employment office. The average number of job seekers during the past year has been more than 500, according to Handley.

HIRE MEN WORKERS

However, while total unemployment has decreased greatly, the number of women who are unemployed has not decreased proportionately. In other words, most of the workers hired recently have been men, not women.

The Mansfield office has continued to recruit workers from areas outside the city. The majority of such workers have been recruited from southern Ohio. The variety of industries and higher wages in Mansfield have attracted workers here, Handley said.

Foundries and steel mills in Mansfield request workers who are able to do heavy work. Workers in such plants must be large men, weighing 175 pounds on the average. The number of that type of workers who live in Mansfield is small, according to Handley. Consequently, such employers are recruiting outside labor. The employment office has been recruiting from 70 to 100 outside workers a month for one heavy industry here, Handley said.

RETAIL JOBS INCREASE

The increase in factory employment here has been reflected in increased employment in restaurants and retail businesses, Handley said.

Labor turnover in Mansfield is higher than the state average. This is probably due to the number of unemployment opportunities or the fact that workers are able to leave one job and secure another more easily here than in many other cities, Handley said.

Handley said that the national releases received by his office indicate that employment is expected to continue at a high level for at least a year.

National defense expenditures, shortages of steel, backlogs of orders in some industries, and the Marshall Plan are expected to maintain the high production and employment levels for some time, Handley said.

Boy Hurt as Cars Crash

A two-year-old Mansfield child suffered facial injuries yesterday when a car driven by his grandmother collided with an unlighted car on Sycamore street.

The child, Thomas Ramsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ramsey, 58½ Helen avenue, was reported recovering at his home today after receiving medical treatment for skin abrasions.

Police said Mrs. Angeline Ramsey, driver of the car and of the same address, told them she was driving on the left side of the street to avoid a deep rut in the street Mrs. Ramsey said the approaching car did not have its lights turned on.

Mrs. Mary Birk, 273 Beymiller street, driver of the other car, told police she "didn't need lights at the time." The accident occurred at 6 p. m. at West Third and Sycamore streets.

Backs Dewey And Lausche

A rare phenomenon — a campaign button which calls for the election of a Republican president and a Democratic governor, has made its appearance in Mansfield recently.

The white button carries the following slogan in blue letters: "It's Dewey and Lausche."

Authoritative sources stated that an insurance agents group is distributing the buttons and that their reason is that Gov. Thomas J. Herbert permitted the General Motors corporation to sell automobile insurance in competition with insurance agents.

Musical Show Plays Tonight

Skitch Henderson and his orchestra come here tonight from Columbus, where they have been playing at the Hartman theater. The musicians will appear under the auspices of the Mansfield Junior Chamber of Commerce, with the president, Robert Murphy, acting as master of ceremonies.

Henderson's musicians will present a show, "The Best Is Yet To Come," which includes tap dancing by Jack Saylor, member of the Jaycees. In addition the Mansfield Senior high school band will play before curtain time, scheduled for 7 p. m

Duplicating the performance at Columbus, Henderson will have a huge Hollywood premiere light in front of the Senior high school.

Call For Air Guard Recruits Gets Results, Capt. Ash Says

The call for additional recruits for Mansfield's 164th Fighter Squadron of the Air National Guard has brought good results, according to Capt. William O Ash, commanding officer of the unit.

Capt. Ash said today that 23 young men have been interviewed for positions in the unit since Sunday when the appeal was sounded.

The intensified recruiting program is being staged in connection with the $1,000,000 installation expected to be started at the airport late this fall. In order to bring the unit up to full strength, 108 enlisted men and eight officers are still needed.

Interviews with applicants for the Air Guard will be held daily, including Saturdays and Sundays, at Hangar 7 at the airport. The squadron office will be open from 8 a. m to 5 p. m. every day and from 7 to 9 p. m. each evening. Information on the program may be obtained by calling 4207-6 during the day and 4209-6 in the evening.

Meanwhile, Capt. Ash said he expects the "go ahead" sign momentarily from Washington to receive bids on the construction program. First to be constructed in the program will be the hangar and adjoining shops and the parking ramp. The installation, first to be approved for a civilian airport in the nation, will serve as a model for the rest of the country.

Charges Electronics Head Forced U. S. to Foot Propagandist Bills

NEW YORK—Samuel Novick, born in Vitebsk, Russia, in 1897, arrived in the United States in 1914, age 17, with that nice timing which permitted other immigrants about the same age, from the same land, to escape service under the Czar against the Kaiser. He was naturalized in 1926. In 1943, after the United States entered the crusade against the genocide monster, Adolf Hitler, he began manufacturing "confidential and secret" radar and other electronic equipment for the air forces.

He turned out "roughly" $6,000,000 worth in less than three years, and much of his profit went to Communist fronts. He went to public school in benighted Russia under the Czar and to night school here. He worked first in a grocery store and next in garment factories. Then he was a radio telegrapher. After that he became a business man, so glib and deft in American corporate subtleties that the identities of the Electronic Corporation of America, of which he is president and his wife is secretary, and several other companies cannot be told apart.

Like the screwd Sam Carp, of Bridgeport, Conn., Molotov's brother-in-law, who was cunning enough to trim the buttons off the tough Yankee traders of Connecticut in many a hard business deal by posing as a greenhorn, Novick has a trick of appearing to be confused by details. Like Carp he is careless about time and figures. He never tells a lie under oath. He just makes mistakes. He can't remember.

Carp was so naive that he couldn't quite recall whether it was $200 million or $300 million that Molotov entrusted to him to spend for war material in the United States, or whether his commission was to be two per cent or three. Novick didn't even suspect that the New Masses and other notorious concerns to which he gave tax-deductible contributions out of his war profits on American contracts were Communistic fronts. He couldn't remember how much he gave. And he couldn't remember writing false information to the bureau of immigration indorsing one Arthur Adams, a principal Russian spy, for entry into the United States, or even whether he had known Adams ten years or 20 years.

I hope it will not be in bad taste to say that these dispatches exposed Novick in the fall of 1944 in connection with the denunciation of the Communist-propagandist and journeyman larcenist, who goes by the name of William S. Gailmor. This is the same Gailmor, now come safe through the war as an exempt lecturer haranguing loyal American boys on their duty to "democracy," who has been campaigning for Henry Wallace as the Kremlin's candidate for president.

Novick paid Gailmor $7,388 to broadcast his pro-Soviet propaganda in 1945. Novick tried to charge all his radio time for both Gailmor and Johannes Steel, a refugee from Hitler, but the war department disallowed a total of more than $100,000 for two years. This included printed advertisements of the programs and the cost of the radio time.

However, Novick's companies probably were allowed to shift the burden of this political infection to the loyal American taxpayer. When his corporate income tax returns were made under the treasury rulings this item would be a "legitimate" advertising expense.

Globe-Trotter, Cannibal Sandwiches Lighter Moments Evoke Comment

This happened at Sardi's the other Before-Curtain time. . . . A theatrical agent was boring a group with a resume of his recent European travels. . . . "So I hopped over to England," the pest droned, "then I flew to France, then to Switzerland and from there . ."

"This guy doesn't drop names," groaned Bob Sylvester. He drops countries."

Ann Jeffreys, star of "My Romance," was in a midtown restaurant with Sigmund Romberg, the show's composer.

He ordered a cannibal sandwich, sometimes called tartar steak. When this chopped-up raw meat (with raw egg on top) was served Ann intoned: "Oh, Rommie, how can you eat such a thing? You know darn well if you saw that in an alley—you'd walk around it!"

Along came an old pal, who said: "Max, when we were kids, you were a regular he-man. Why are you standing like a sissy with your hand on your hip?"

"How do you like dot!" exclaimed Max (inspecting his arm). "Some doity-doity sviped my pompanickel!"

When Max Hart, a prosperous booking agent on the Big Time, first discussed Eddie Cantor with F. Ziegfeld, (whose girl-shows have rarely been equalled) Mr. Z. couldn't get excited about Cantor . . . Hart eventually sold him the idea and Cantor wow'd the first-nighters into the aisles.

"I told you," beamed Max, "he couldn't miss with those eyes!"

"I am surprised more than anyone," confessed Flo. "A Follies audience usually doesn't look further than a performer's legs."

When John Barrymore was on lean days in Hollywood his agents arranged a dinner at the home of a producer . . . The unpredictable actor kept them waiting an hour. One agent went to a phone.

"Tell him," yelled another, "we're just finishing cocktails!"

"Finishing, hell!" was the retort. "I'll say we're just starting!"

A retired businessman once came to producer Sam Harris' office and said: "I've been able to save $3,000,000 and I want to invest some of it in a B'way show. Can you advise me how to invest it?"

"You have earned and saved three million dollars," gasped Harris, "and you come to ME for advice?"

Helen Hayes, who doesn't think much of the movies (or of having her photo taken), was going through a publicity stunt at a radio station. Lights, cameras and the works . . . Someone asked if thing were "comfy."

"That's like asking," scoffed Helen, "if the straitjacket fits!"

Union P-TA Pushes Bond Issue

Crossing Flasher To Be Installed

Decision to campaign for the proposed $80,000 bond issue at the November election was voted unanimously last night by 120 parents and teachers of the Union Rural high school, when P-TA members met at the school.

An intensive drive will be started immediately to use the remaining few days before election to bring the question before every resident of the district. Large posters will be placed at all road intersections and leaflets will be distributed to every family in the area by school pupils. In addition, parents and voting residents will be contacted personally by heads of the P-TA.

It was decided, also, that transportation to the polls would be provided for all those who wish it.

The bond issue will supplement the $120,000 voted two years ago. It will insure the building of a centralized elementary school to replace the remaining one-room schools and an addition to the present high school.

Members last night, under the direction of Martin Frank, president, discussed installation of a flasher at the Erie railroad on the Olivesburg road near the Mansfield Shale Brick plant.

Charles Bookwalter, chairman of the committee on the flasher project, had written a letter to Gov. Thomas J. Herbert asking that a flasher be installed. In reply Gov. Herbert said that the state highway department was "ready to go" with plans for installation, but that due to a big demand for the materials required, it may be six to eight months before installation can be made.

A letter was received from the state highway department, explaining its plans in detail.

CIRCULATE PETITIONS

Action on the flasher installation was promised as the result of a petition circulated among residents in that area. More than 1,000 signatures were obtained and highway officials made a survey of the situation, finding that 1,100 vehicles passed over the crossing daily and that a flasher should be installed.

Highway officials said the state department would finance 90 per cent of the cost and the Erie railroad 10 per cent, future maintenance would be up to the railroad.

Mrs. H. T. SirLouis, membership chairman, said that the current campaign quota promises to exceed that of last year, when 103 members were enrolled. She also outlined the objectives and aims of the P-TA.

John Humbert, former student at the school, told of plans for an orchestra.

Mrs. Paul Lantz, chairman; Mrs. Thomas Elders, Mrs. Russell Maxwell and Thomas Lasley, principal of the school, comprise the years program committee.

The refreshments committee for the year includes Mrs. Humbert, Mrs. Foster Groff and Mrs. Charles Johnson.

Last night's hostess was Mrs. Ralph Oswalt, assisted by Carl Dill and George Love.

The next meeting the the P-TA will be held on Nov. 29.

Engineers To Hear Talk

BUCYRUS — Modern developments and locations of mineral deposits in Ohio will feature the talk of John R. Advent to the North Central Chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers at 6:30 p. m. Thursday at the Weaver Hotel Coffee shop in Bucyrus.

Advent, executive secretary of the Ohio Development Publicity commission, will be introduced by M. G. Boyd, program chairman.

Backs Dewey And Lausche

A rare phenomenon—a campaign button which calls for the election of a Republican president and a Democratic governor, has made its appearance in Mansfield recently.

Authoritative sources stated that an insurance agents group is distributing the buttons and that their reason is that Gov. Thomas J. Herbert permitted the General Motors corporation to sell automobile insurance in competition with insurance agents.

St. Peter's Students Follow Adult Pattern

When voters go to the polls next Tuesday, students at St. Peter's high school will know all about the procedure although they are not old enough to cast ballots.

The students have chosen their officers following a convention patterned after the Democratic and Republican sessions in Philadelphia last summer.

As the result of the senior class election Richard Flood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Flood, 151 West Fourth street, will head the 1949 graduating class. Chosen with him were: Joan Geller, vice president; Barbara Renard, secretary, and John Hornung, treasurer.

Juniors elected Thomas Dorsey, president; Antonia Mollica, vice president; Peggy Malone, secretary, and Kenneth Day, treasurer. Sophomores chose Edward Bozymski, president; Helen Smith, vice president; Betty Schartl, secretary, and Richard Eichinger, treasurer.

A week preceding the election, there was a rush of campaigning among high school students. Candidates made speeches, there were parades and signs pointed up the abilities of candidates.

Purpose of the election was to teach civics in a practical way, teachers said.

Police Rearranging First Floor Offices

The police department is rearranging its offices on the first floor of the city building and right now you practically need a detective to find your way around.

The office moving has been made possible by the opening of the new municipal court room on the third floor of the city building, thus vacating the old municipal court room on the first floor.

The room, at the west end of the building, was first occupied in January, 1928, and has been used for the past 20 years for court sessions and council meetings that attracted large numbers of spectators.

The changes that are now being made are as follows:

1. The identification bureau has been moved into the old court room and George Caton, parking meter collector, has moved into the identification bureau.

2. The detective bureau, formerly located next to the traffic bureau has moved into a room at the rear of the courtroom formerly used by the parking meter collector and Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals' office has been moved into the old detective bureau.

3. Police records, previously scattered between the identification bureau and the traffic bureau will now all be centrally located in the court room being used as the identification bureau.

The traffic bureau, adjacent to Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab's office will remain where it is, but will house only traffic division records.

The police radio and lieutenants' and captains' room will remain where they are situated at present.

Case of Missing Chair Unsolved

An upholstered chair worth $75 disappeared on U. S. Route 30-N, Mrs. T. C. Blizzard reported to the sheriff's office, a short while after it fell out of a small trailer.

She told deputies that she and her husband were en route to Mansfield from Crestline when another driver caught up with them and told them the chair had fallen out of the trailer. They went back to the spot, two miles down the road, but the chair was gone, Mrs. Blizzard said. She told deputies the incident occurred Saturday night.

Seek Dead Man's Kin

Mansfield police today sought relatives of a 42-year-old man whose body was recovered from a river in Gary, Ind., with a Chicago-to-Mansfield bus ticket in his pocket.

Gary police authorities informed Mansfield officers that Ralph T. Rush, the drowning victim, was six feet, two inches tall and partly bald.

Chicago police reported that Rush was believed to have a sister in Mansfield.

Mansfield officers said no indication of foul play was reported. Officers here said they have no record of the victim.

Anyone having information on the victim is urged to contact the police. Rush's body is now at the Williams and Burns funeral home in Gary.

Vets Urged to File Reports

The 2,500 veterans in the Mansfield area taking advantage of the on-the-job training program under the GI Bill of Rights were again warned today by G. D. Weidemaier, manager of the Mansfield Veterans Administration here, to send in their monthly reports on time.

Failure to meet the Nov. 10 deadline for the October report will result in suspension of subsistence payments.

In order to prevent payment of subsistence allowances to which veterans may not be entitled, it is necessary for the VA to receive the monthly training reports promptly.

Since direct VA supervision of veterans training under the GI Bill ceased early this year, there has been an increasing number of delinquent reports each month.

IT GETS WORSE—

With two of its seven parcel post delivery trucks still out of commission, crowded conditions at the post office were even worse than usual yesterday. Four trucks broke down last week. Two have been repaired and the post office borrowed two others to make already delayed deliveries. Meanwhile, parcel post packages continued to pile up in the inadequate working space of the mailroom. By this morning the entire rear section of the room was filled with incoming parcel post packages. Post office employes were working the packages for delivery as rapidly as possible to make room for three handtrucks of packages which were still on the loading platform because there was no place for them inside.

Job Total Tops War Figures

Unemployment At New Low

The number of persons employed in Mansfield reached an all-time high this month, according to C. W. Handley, manager of the Ohio State Employment Service office here.

The 19,000 persons employed in the 41 industries contacted by the office is a figure larger than the number employed during the wartime employment peak, Handley said.

The ratio of job seekers to workers in Mansfield is only one-half the national ratio. Nationally, three out of every 100 workers are seeking jobs at any one time. In Mansfield the ratio is only one and one-half workers out of every 100.

The Mansfield office now has fewer than 100 claimants for unemployment compensation. Included in this number are workers who have reached the age of retirement.

Less than 300 job seekers are now listed at the employment office. The average number of job seekers during the past year has been more than 500, according to Handley.

HIRE MEN WORKERS

However, while total unemployment has decreased greatly, the number of women who are unemployed has not decreased proportionately. In other words, most of the workers hired recently have been men, not women.

The Mansfield office has continued to recruit workers from areas outside the city. The majority of such workers have been recruited from southern Ohio. The variety of industries and higher wages in Mansfield have attracted workers here, Handley said.

Foundries and steel mills in Mansfield request workers who are able to do heavy work. Workers in such plants must be large men, weighing 175 pounds on the average. The number of that type of workers who live in Mansfield is small, according to Handley. Consequently, such employers are recruiting outside labor. The employment office has been recruiting from 70 to 100 outside workers a month for one heavy industry here, Handley said.

RETAIL JOBS INCREASE

The increase in factory employment here has been reflected in increased employment in restaurants and retail businesses, Handley said.

Labor turnover in Mansfield is higher than the state average. This is probably due to the number of unemployment opportunities or the fact that workers are able to leave one job and secure another more easily here than in many other cities, Handley said.

Handley said that the national releases received by his office indicate that employment is expected to continue at a high level for at least a year.

National defense expenditures, shortages of steel, backlogs of orders in some industries, and the Marshall Plan are expected to maintain the high production and employment levels for some time, Handley said.

Boy Hurt as Cars Crash

A two-year-old Mansfield child suffered facial injuries yesterday when a car driven by his grandmother collided with an unlighted car on Sycamore street.

The child, Thomas Ramsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ramsey, 58½ Helen avenue, was reported recovering at his home today after receiving medical treatment for skin abrasions.

Police said Mrs. Angeline Ramsey, driver of the car and of the same address, told them she was driving on the left side of the street to avoid a deep rut in the street. Mrs. Ramsey said the approaching car did not have its lights turned on.

Mrs. Mary Birk, 273 Beymiller street, driver of the other car, told police she "didn't need lights at the time." The accident occurred at 6 p. m. at West Third and Sycamore streets.

Call For Air Guard Recruits Gets Results, Capt. Ash Says

The call for additional recruits for Mansfield's 164th Fighter Squadron of the Air National Guard has brought good results, according to Capt. William O. Ash, commanding officer of the unit.

Capt. Ash said today that 23 young men have been interviewed for positions in the unit since Sunday when the appeal was sounded.

The intensified recruiting program is being staged in connection with the $1,000,000 installation expected to be started at the airport late this fall. In order to bring the unit up to full strength, 108 enlisted men and eight officers are still needed.

Interviews with applicants for the Air Guard will be held daily, including Saturdays and Sundays, at Hangar 7 at the airport. The squadron office will be open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. every day and from 7 to 9 p. m. each evening. Information on the program may be obtained by calling 4207-6 during the day and 4209-6 in the evening.

Meanwhile, Capt. Ash said he expects the "go ahead" sign momentarily from Washington to receive bids on the construction program. First to be constructed in the program will be the hangar and adjoining shops and the parking ramp. The installation, first to be approved for a civilian airport in the nation, will serve as a model for the rest of the country.
